Turns on the Gas and Finds Death He Sought

Member of Sacramento Lodge of Elks a Suicide

SAN FRANCISCO July 11.—C. F. Turner, a member of the Sacramento lodge of Elks, committed suicide last night and was found this morning in a room at 2510 Sutter street. He rented the room last night and stated that he intended to occupy it for a couple of days. This morning gas was found escaping from the room the door was broken open and Turner was found lifeless in the bed. Both of the gas valves were turned on and all the gas that could have been applied was escaping. The body was cold, showing that death had occurred some time before Turner was found. It is believed that he was in the room for a short time before he turned on the gas in one of his pockets was found a letter addressed to him at 1715 Fifth street in that city. There was also found a piece of paper containing the name address. The letter was from a son of the deceased and was written at San Francisco. It was dated July 10 and spoke about the writer having recently moved from Bakerfield. It set forth that Bakerfield was not in it with Vacaville when compared in the matter of heat. It also said: "Things are going both ways this week." In several parts of the letter allusions were made but it is not known whether by father or son. No jewelry was in the room. The body was found in a room on the second floor of a building on Sutter street. The body was found in a room on the second floor of a building on Sutter street. Telegram Delayed to Save Two Rebels from Execution

Escape by One Hour to U. S. After Being Ordered Shot in Hayti

NEW YORK July 11.—By the suppression of a telegram ordering their arrest and immediate death as enemies of the government of Haiti, with only one hour to spare two merchants of Port au Prince saved their lives by flight and came to New York. They are Alexis Valbrune and Theophile Theodore, both of whom arrived here on the Prinzess Wilhelm IV of the Royal Dutch West India mail service. Through the influence of friends the men learned on July 4 that an order for their arrest had been issued. The telegram received at Port au Prince was said to have borne the name of Nord Alexis, President of Hayti and to have read in part: "Take the men from their beds and shoot them at once." Valbrune and Theodore stood high in Haytian circles and had many friends in the service of the government. Realizing that immediate action was imperative, they conferred with officials who were friendly and arranged to have the telegram held in the receiving office at Port au Prince until 1 o'clock in the afternoon of July 4. The Prinzess Wilhelm IV was scheduled to steam for New York at 1 o'clock. The two condemned men gathered together a few pieces of baggage and went aboard the vessel. When the telegram was delivered the Prinzess Wilhelm IV had steamed an hour before the refugees were beyond the jurisdiction of Haytian law. As soon as the vessel docked in Brooklyn, Valbrune and Theodore were hurried away by friends who suggested that passage could be arranged on the Maracibo, which steamed for Curaçao at noon today.

GREAT LAKE OF OIL IN FLAMES

Fire on Surface Ignites Underground Reservoir One Mile Square and of Unknown Depth.

CITY OF MEXICO July 11.—A lake of oil covering an area of more than one square mile and of unknown depth in the state of Vera Cruz is on fire. It has been burning for five days and has created the wildest terror among the natives of that section. The blaze is seen for more than 200 miles at sea, according to navigators who have arrived at Vera Cruz and Tampico. The scene of the fire is about 75 miles southeast of Tampico near the San Gerónimo river. It is remote from any railroad. An oil field was being developed at that place by the Pennsylvania Oil company, which is composed of Pittsburgh men. The company had bored a number of oil wells and all of them were flowing oil in large quantities. The product was being placed in earthen storage tanks preparatory to shipping. A careless workman accidentally set fire to one of the wells and the flames were communicated to the underground reservoir which ignited the earth's surface throughout the whole field. The explosion was heard 75 miles distant. The oil company lost $200,000 worth of machinery and the oil which has been burned will total millions of barrels. The whole oil field will be destroyed.

DRUG CLERK PUTS END TO LIFE

Death May Have Been Caused by an Overdose of Morphine to Which He Was Addicted.

SAN FRANCISCO July 11.—Neubert Holm, a former drug clerk, committed suicide or died by accident last night at the home of his parents, 40 Steiner street. He was almost dead when discovered. The patient had long been addicted to the use of morphine taking heavy doses by injection. The doctor was unable to afford any relief because death resulted soon after his arrival on the scene. The impression obtained that the autopsy will disclose that a needle injection the patient punctured a vein and broke the needle in the wound. Kitty Cooper came to her death at the central emergency hospital at 3 o'clock this morning because of the physicians could give a definite cause for it the supposition being that it had been occasioned by the abstraction of poison of some kind. The woman was taken to the hospital in a feeble condition last night from the St. Charles house at Third and Brannan streets at midnight her death occurring three hours later.

BRYAN HEARS TALES OF THE DENVER CONVENTION

Enjoys Rest After Heavy Strain for a Fortnight

FAIRVIEW, LINCOLN, Neb., July 11.—Wm. J. Bryan, willing listener, heard tales of the Denver convention today, members of the Lincoln-Bryan Club having returned from the Colorado capital this morning. Mr. Bryan, who had been under heavy strain for a fortnight, enjoyed a full night's rest last night and arose greatly refreshed ready for the many conferences he will have with his supporters during the coming week. Chief in importance will be the visit to Fairview of members of the new national committee next Tuesday, when campaign plans will be discussed and the matter of a new chairman taken up informally.

BOY SAVES MOTHER'S BODY FROM THE POTTER'S FIELD

Pathetic Story of a Young Son's Devotion

CHICAGO July 11.—George Hanley, 14 years old, who since the death of his mother last Monday, in the county hospital, has resorted to every means known to raise money except steal to give his mother a decent burial, persuaded an undertaker yesterday to bury her in his own lot in Elmwood. The boy, whose home is in two dingy rooms, has worked incessantly collecting cents and nickels from the poor people in his neighborhood in an effort to save his mother's body from the potter's field. Those who contribute are in as much need of money as George and he succeeded in raising only $1.60. George's father, William Hanley, has been missing for the last two weeks. After his wife's death a search was made for him with no result. Besides George there is a ten-year-old girl, Lillian, and a boy 3 years old. Mrs. Hanley before her marriage lived in the west, though none of her friends know exactly where. Neighbors are taking care of George's brother and sister, while he is looking after the home.

Mrs. Donohue disappeared from her home one evening while her husband was attending a meeting of the Elks lodge. Taking nothing with her but the clothes she had on, her kitchen dress, red coat and hat, Mrs. Donohue went away and nothing has been heard of her since. A Clu was giving her description were sent broadcast over the country. Nothing was heard of her but one day Donohue said he heard she had eloped with another man. See That Your Name Is on Great Register

If you wish to vote at the coming election in November and have not already registered, neglect that duty no longer. If you registered last year that does not entitle you to vote this year. You must have registered since the beginning of the year or you will lose your right to vote in November. POLICE ARE STILL AT LOSS

Boy May Have Accidentally Fallen Into Receptacle and Been Smothered to Death—Detectives Work on the Case.

(Special to The Tribune) SAN FRANCISCO July 11.—When the autopsy was held today on the body of a boy, who was found in a bin of the garbage receptacle last night, the police were inclined to alter their theory that the boy was murdered. The autopsy showed that death was due to suffocation and that the wound about the head might have been inflicted after death by a pitchfork. The theory that now obtains is that the boy was probably playing about a bin and accidentally fell in. He may have been stunned by the fall and while lying at the bottom of the bin in an unconscious condition, several loads of garbage might have been dumped upon him, thereby smothering him. The police, however, will continue their investigation until perfectly satisfied that the lad did not meet with a foul play. Two boys whom the detectives interviewed today said that they had been playing with the dead lad until a few hours yesterday afternoon and when he left them he said he was going to the garbage receptacle. The boys did not see him again.

STRANGE FEATURE

One of the strange features of the case in the estimation of the police is the alleged instinct of the father, John Buchanoff, who had missed his son from supper and who arrived search of the lad at the reduction works at the moment the body was recovered. It has been said that this action on the part of the parent showed a foreknowledge of the discovery and the detectives are making rigid inquiry into the fact. John Buchanoff, the father, who resides at 950 Do Haro street is a Russian and makes a scanty living as a laborer. He has practically no knowledge of English and in a very brief and troubled interview with THE TRIBUNE reporter today said, through an interpreter, THE FATHER'S STORY. My poor son was killed. I don't know who did it. I don't know who killed him. I have no enemies.

THUGS WILL DIE ON THE GALLOWS

Governor Gillett Refuses to Commute Death Sentence of Louis Dabner and John Sierran, Gaspipe Bandits.

SACRAMENTO July 11.—Governor Gillett today refused to commute the death sentence of Louis Dabner and John Sierran, gaspipe bandits, who were executed at San Quentin on July 31 for the murder of M. Munkitake, a Japanese banker in San Francisco. Dabner and Sierran are known as the "gas pipe thugs" and are accused of two murders and several robberies in addition to the crime for which they were sentenced.

TRIED TO DROWN IN ESTUARY

Dragged to the Bank by Men Most Pitiful Case Yet Recorded; She Has Not Had a Substantial Meal for About Six Months.

Rather than see her nine children starve and go naked, Mrs. Helen Welch, a widow 50 years old, resident of 18 Chester street decided to end it all today by plunging into the estuary at West Oakland. Her attempt at suicide attracted men on shore who set out in a boat and rescued her from a watery grave. The woman was almost dead when dragged on the bank. A call was sent in for the police ambulance and Mrs. Welch was removed to the receiving hospital, where Steward Borchert worked over her for an hour before the numb body showed any signs of life. CHILDREN STARVING. When Mrs. Welch reached her consciousness she cried that she wanted to die and would not find a way to end life's sufferings. She said she was dying because of the poverty stricken condition of her family. Before her children died of starvation she said she wanted to be taken off. ALL ARE HUNGRY. For six months she has not had a substantial meal. The entire family of mother and nine children have been living off the earnings of the 12-year-old daughter, who works at the cotton mill in West Oakland. The children range from a girl 10 years old to a boy 23. The oldest boy is out of work in Sacramento where he sought employment. The family had a bare living when all the children were working but now Mrs. Welch said none but the one girl could keep a job. TOO PROUD TO BEG. She said she was too proud to ask for charity. When Matron Hughes of the Receiving Hospital reported the affair to the Associated Charities this afternoon they said they were sorry but they had no clothing for the woman and nothing could be done for her. The Salvation Army volunteered to purchase underclothing for the woman and care for the little ones.

AWAKENED BY CLUTCH AT NECK

Masked Man Who Tried to Gag Woman in Sleep Thought to Be No Ordinary Burglar.

NEW YORK July 11.—Awakened at an early hour this morning by pressure about her throat, Mrs. Isaac Whitely of Boston, a niece of the late Mrs. Charles F. Fair, discovered that she was being gagged by a man and man. She was unable to scream but she fought desperately and awakened her brother-in-law Frank B. Leonard, at whose home she was staying in Caldwell, N. Y. He burst into the room and the man jumped from a second story window and escaped. The police are inclined to believe the intruder was not a burglar.

BIG RALLY AT NORTH OAKLAND

Congressman Joseph R. Knowland Is Given an Ovation by a Great Audience.

One of the most enthusiastic Republican affiliation meetings held in Alameda county during the present campaign took place last night at Van der Naillon hall, Fifty-first and Telegraph avenue. The meeting was held under the auspices of the Taft-Sherman Regular Republican Club of the First Ward. When President Nicholas Perdegaat called the meeting to order every chair was occupied and standing room was at a premium. The entrance to the hall was blocked by enthusiastic Republicans who desired to participate in ratifying the nomination of Taft and Sherman. The great audience was most demonstrative, the mention of the names of the party nominees being the signal for enthusiastic bursts of applause.

Short talks were made by Ire Underwood, L. M. Rhay, R. D. Jones and A. A. Van der Nallden Jr., the speakers all dwelling upon the strength of the ticket nominated at Chicago and urging all Republicans to continue their efforts until election day in rolling up in Alameda county a great Republican majority. William Wetherall entertained the audience with two vocal selections in dialect.

CONGRESSMAN KNOWLAND.
When Congressman Knowland forced his way through the crowd that blocked the door and entered the hall his appearance was the signal for a most enthusiastic demonstration. He was immediately invited to the platform and introduced. The speaker made a comparison between the records of William H. Taft and William J. Bryan, dwelling at length upon the achievements and public record of the

"The Democratic nominee" continued the speaker, "declared in one campaign the only salvation of the country was the enactment of a law for the free coinage of silver at the ratio of 16 to 1, while in another campaign he dropped that issue and took up that of anti-imperialism, advocating a policy of hauling down the American flag in our insular possessions."

and turning them over to the Filipinos before they were fitted for self-government, a policy that everyone now admits would have brought disgrace upon this country and meant ruination to the inhabitants of the island. The policy of the Republican party has been to fit these people for self-government, which is being done through the instrumentality of public schools. The people lost confidence in a candidate who adopts a new set of principles for each campaign."

The speaker, in closing, declared that no State in the Union had a greater interest in the Republican success at the coming election than the commonwealth of California. "Californians desire a continuation of the great policies of Theodore Roosevelt," he declared.

odore Roosevelt. No State has as many articles upon the protected list, and a Democratic tariff revision would prove detrimental to many of our leading industries. We are interested in the development of our insular possessions, and in the completion of the great Panama Canal."

THE COMMITTEE.
The following have been appointed members of the executive committee from the various precincts of the First Ward: First precinct, Chas. Klinkner and F. B. Lynch; second precinct, R. B. Cuthbert and Henry A. Burns; third precinct, Fred

Bryan and Kern (Who's Kern?)

For President of the United States, William Jennings Bryan of Nebraska; for Vice-President, John W. Kern of Indiana

There will not be much inquiry as to the identity of Bryan. He is excessively known. But a good many are sure to ask "Who's Kern?" After their initial curiosity is satisfied, those who take account of political wherefores are very likely to stick to their interrogation point, and ask again, "Why is Kern?"

The facts seem to be that Mr. Kern is a rangy person, six feet high, with whiskers, and is not unknown in the political arena of Hoosierdom. Details dug out of the musty political records of that State are to the effect that he has twice run for governor. The first run was in 1900, when Bryan ran the second time for President. Though he received more votes than Bryan, he figured with him among the "also rans." He was the Democratic nominee for governor again in 1904, and again he received more votes than the Democratic nominee for President, though still again not enough to elect him.

Before that he held office as city attorney of Indianapolis, and before that again he was a court reporter. In 1905 he was favorably mentioned for the United States Senatorship by the party in the minority, and which, therefore, was without the power to elect anybody.

He was 59 years 4 months and 20 days old at the time of his nomination, and possessed the esteem of all who knew him.

The inward political meaning of his nomination is that Thomas Taggart, proprietor of Lick Springs, who managed the Democratic campaign of 1904 to the scandal of the sedate head of the ticket, found that Kern was fishing for his place as national committeeman. Rather than lose that, Taggart was willing that he should have the Vice-Presidential nomination, and proceeded to get it for him. There was nobody in the way, it appears to have been dead easy, and there you are.

There is no reason discernible to the person unaffected with that peculiar political strabismus that Taggart suffers from why Kern should have the second place on the ticket. And Taggart's reason is not likely to command national recognition. But there is no objection whatever. Mr. Bryan is reported as being delighted, and there is sure y no Republican, really anxious for the success of his party, who will demur.

The Exuberant Baby State.

The Democratic national convention served to illustrate how States change in their political importance. Some that were once pivotal do not seem to be so now. Ohio used to be decisive Little-ground, and the parties fought desperately in Indiana for preliminary victories, because these had distinct bearing on the main contests. Grover Cleveland was declared to have been elected President of the United States over James G. Blaine because of New York State being returned as Democratic, though by the slim majority of some thirteen hundred. When it is seen how Mr. Bryan ran his roller over New York just the other day, it must be understood that he does not esteem that State as pivotal. Indeed, he expresses himself to the effect that its electoral vote is not vital—that he can be elected without it.

Other States that used to go sometimes one way, sometimes the other, and always close, have settled down, and the Solid South is now confronted by a Solid North. As it looks for this campaign, no Northern State will reverse herself and get into the Bryan column; but several of them could do that and yet not insure his election.

The baby State, Oklahoma, cut a big dash at Denver. This was its first Democratic national convention. Oklahoma was born, not full-panoplied, as California was, without a period of territorial swaddling, but certainly with its teeth cut and with other evidences of precocity.

Oklahoma, not coming into being under the slow probationary process of so many Western States, but at the first jump having a well-nourished population full of vigor and vinegar, went at State making with a certainty that denoted self-confidence, indeed. It adopted a constitution with lots of new things in it. An active gentleman of the name of Haskell dominated the constitutional convention, and then got elected the first governor through showing how necessary it was for the man who made the constitution to be intrusted with the job of putting it in operation.

This gentleman was very much in evidence at Mr. Bryan's convention. He was the chairman of the platform committee. In this capacity he did not have room according to his exuberance, as the platform was in cold storage and all he had to do was to take it off the ice. This explains how none of Oklahoma's bumptious experiments got into the document. But Haskell got noticed a good deal, and is understood to be preening himself for 1912.

Besides Governor Haskell, the blind Senator Gore was one of the new State's novelties at Denver. He has a certain faculty for politics, a geniality, and the true Oklahoma lingo. Being blind, his personal qualities are accepted for a good deal more than they would be if he had his eyes. Senator Gore was the center of the demonstration over Bryan that was kept up such a considerable time. He was very prominent all through the proceedings.

Oklahoma was about the busiest State at the convention. Bryan's own State was put way in the shade by it. It has adopted a Populist State constitution and elected Democratic Senators. It appears to figure large in Democratic politics. It remains to be seen how it will vote on the Presidential issue.

Hearst Promptly Disapproves Bryan.

Just as every feature of a show comes in for consideration, though it may not be a headliner, so the editorial exhortation of Mr. Bryan and his platform by William Randolph Hearst attracts attention and furnishes diversion.

This would not have been the case to such extent had not Mr. Bryan, even after his convention had assembled, made overtures to Mr. Hearst for the amalgamation of the Independence League with his Democratic party.

There is no question that such overtures were made. Mr. Bryan summoned representatives of Mr. Hearst to Lincoln, and there was a conference; and while the conference was on a very respectful attitude was maintained by the proponents of the principals, each toward the other; but they could not have had common ground anywhere.

It is understood Mr. Bryan proposed a lion-and-lamb arrangement, the league to be the lamb and to be inside when they laid down together. Anyhow, the disapproval of the Democratic nominee by the newspapers controlled by the other party to the conference evinces not only dissatisfaction, but acrimony. It is likely that the attempt to bring into his fold this other political body will have ill effects that might not have resulted if it had never been made.

It is undoubtedly understood by Mr. Bryan, as it is by everybody else, that the elements composing the Independence League are of the kind that he must look to for a large part of his support. That this organization is separated by a wider gap since the attempted coalition must follow.

The Hearst papers are incisive in a campaign, and it may be expected that their discussions of the candidates and issues will not be of a kind to soothe the nerves of the Democratic standard-bearer.

ONLY ONE REAL OAKLAND IN THE UNITED STATES

There Are 59 Others, but They Don't Count

City Attorney McElroy, who has just returned from an extended Southern trip during which he visited the principal cities of the East, is more than even content to make his permanent home in Oakland. Here is what he says:

"Oakland is good enough for me. In my opinion, it is the New York of the Pacific Coast. Its magnificent waterfront when developed, can accommodate as much shipping as can New York."

OAKLAND WHARVES. "It will not be many years before the whips of the far East will be up at Oakland wharves. In the same way that the ships plying between Europe and the Atlantic coast discharge and load in New York."

"As New York has a continent to which to send its exports, so we also have a continent in the far East which is legitimately our market. This is necessarily so."

"The cities of Vancouver, Portland and Seattle are keenly alive to the situation and are putting forth their best endeavors to draw to themselves the trade that must of necessity come to us, provided that we are equipped with proper business houses and business men."

EFFICIENT DEPARTMENTS. "I find that our police and fire departments are second in point of efficiency to no other city of equal size in the United States."

"The people of this city are in the habit of complaining bitterly about the condition of the streets of Oakland, but our streets are as good as, if not better than, the streets of any city that I visited during my trip to the East."

"We have many things in Oakland of which we may be justly proud. The climate of the city is superior to that of any other city of the Pacific coast. It is generally believed throughout the East that the San Francisco fire has very greatly assisted Oakland in its development, but while the San Francisco disaster sent many people to us, it was not by reason of the disaster that we are forming ahead, but because to know the City of Oakland is to love it and once you are in Oakland to be home and will not leave again soon."

"All Big Gun" Battleship South Carolina Enters Water.

PHILADELPHIA, July 11.—Amid the din of steam whistles ashore and afloat and the cheering of thousands of persons assembled to witness the event, the "all-big-gun" battleship South Carolina was launched at 12.05 p. m. today at Champs Island on the Delaware river. As the latest addition to the American navy slipped into the water, Miss Frederick Culbert Ansel, daughter of Governor Ansel of South Carolina, broke the traditional bottle of wine against the prow of the great hull and gave the big ship its name.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 11.—Judge Shortall this morning decided in a clear nickel-in-the-slot machine case that conviction cannot be found for paying with legal tender to the American navy. The demand was refused, the man in charge of the machine stating that money was paid only to patrons whom the firm knew, hence the arrest.

SAFE IS OPENED
AFTER 2 YEARS

Many Important Legal Documents Found in District Attorney's Strong Box.

For over a year and a half private papers and documents of former District Attorney Allen have been locked intact in the big safe in the district attorney's office at the court house and it was not until this morning that an expert was called in to empty the inner portions of the strong box.

When Judge Allen went out of office in January, 1907, he said he turned the keys to the inner vault of the safe over to District Attorney Brown. Brown lost them according to Assistant District Attorney Llynes, who this morning engaged a locksmith to open the strong boxes. When the chambers were opened, Llynes discovered papers belonging to Judge Allen which pertained to many important law suits. Judge Allen himself probably considered them lost forever, forgetting that they were locked up in the court house safe.

BREAK INTO ROOM TO ROB SLEEPER

Winner on Gans-Nelson Fight Followed Home and Relieved of $185.

Paul Thompson a sleeping car porter, was robbed of $185 in his room at 2 o'clock this morning by four men who had followed him to his house and broke in the door after Thompson had gone to bed. Dave McIntyre, a colored man, is under arrest on suspicion and the police are searching for the others, together with several women who are believed to have shared in the proceeds of the theft.

Thompson had been a winner on the Gans-Nelson fight to the extent of about $200 and he floated around West Oakland last evening having a good time. Going home with $185 in his purse he put the money under his pillow and went to bed. He had not gone to sleep when the door was broken open and four men entered. He jumped up but was told that if he made another move he would be killed. Then one of the party took the money and the four hurried away.

Policeman W. J. Emigh was notified and, in company with Thompson, visited a number of West end resorts and dance houses. At a dance at Wood and Goss streets Thompson picked McIntyre out of the crowd and identified him as one of the men whom he said had robbed him. McIntyre had but ten cents in his possession but is said to have been buying wine for several women. He was arrested and is now at the city prison while the police are seeking the others.

GOLDEN ICE CREAM AS DELMONICO MADE IT

FAMOUS RECIPE OF CELEBRATED
NEW YORK CATERER TO BE DUPLICATED BY LEHNHARDT
TOMORROW

Lehnhardt, the candy man, has agreed to make five hundred bricks of the wonderful golden ice cream that for years was probably the most celebrated frozen dish of New York. This golden cream, along with 3 or 4 other specialties of a different nature, helped make Delmonico's restaurant famous all over the world, and featured were the epicures who visited Delmonico's who didn't finish their repast with this delicious and truly remarkable french dessert.

The history of the giving out of the recipe reads like a fairy tale, but unfortunately, for the protection of certain parties, cannot be published. Suffice to say however, that Mr. Lehnhardt has the original recipe and that no one else in this State has the right to duplicate the dish even if it were possible to do so.

Although Mr. Lehnhardt will make these bricks at 80c each (the price of all his Sunday specials), the cost of making is such that double the special price of tomorrow would be none too much. This is the reason why the dessert is not offered more frequently and as a further protection against loss Mr. Lehnhardt will make a batch of exactly five hundred bricks and two hundred quarts, and will refuse to sell any more than this amount. As he says the only way to come out even on such an expensive cream is to make one big lot, sell it all in one day and make no more.

As a consequence the public are advised to place their orders by phone tonight in order to be sure to get a brick, for after the five hundred are sold orders will be refused. Delivery wagons will leave Lehnhardt's store on Broadway at 9 a. m. Sunday and deliver all desserts ordered up to that hour by noon or at the latest by 1:30. Then the wagons will leave again at 2 p. m., delivering the desserts for the late diners and suppers. Special wagons will also be in waiting to deliver emergency orders that come in after 9 a. m., but cannot be absolutely depended upon.

Another difficulty, if you put off ordering until tomorrow, will be to get the telephone because but one person can talk at once and it will be in continual use. Consequently the advisability of ordering tonight is apparent.

One brick will answer for 8 people. These bricks are made with a strawberry cream center with the golden Delmonico ice cream all around, or of solid Delmonico. The price is 80c, no charge for delivery. This special will also be sold by the quart at 75c a quart. Although the brick is the most attractive the bulk is favored by a few.

These bricks come packed in ice and will keep for hours. When ready to serve slip them out onto a platter and cut with a cake knife.

Lehnhardt has two phones, Oakland 487 and Home Phone A2497. If you cannot get the phone tonight either send some one down to the store or try again early tomorrow morning. But whatever happens don't miss getting this dessert.

GOSSIP FROM THE SAN FRANCISCO WEEKLIES

A MAGNATE'S TROUBLES.

Henry Butters, the Oakland multimillionaire, who was found ill at the Berkeley residence of his mother, Mrs. S. I. Butters, by a reporter, when the capitalist was thought by society to be domiciled at his own splendid mansion at Alta Vista, Piedmont, made his money in South African mines. Just before the earthquake tumbled things upside down, both socially and architecturally, Mrs. Butters was spoken of as the coming queen of society on both sides of the bay. On the Oakland side she then reigned supreme. The great wealth displayed by the Butters family in the form of magnificent equipages and unlimited hospitality awed Oakland society. Mrs. Butters was the widow of an army officer when Mr. Butters met and married her. It is said that to her indomitable pluck the present owner of millions owes much of his fortune. When in South Africa he grew discouraged in winning fickle fortune but his wife encouraged him to persist. "Just try it one day more," said his courageous partner. That one day made him a multimillionaire. Mrs. Butters was married several times before she became the wife of the gentleman who is now thought by the yellow newspapers to be slated for a divorce suit. Such a proceeding would, indeed, be a social sensation in Oakland if it ever went to an open trial. Miss Marie Butters, a stepdaughter of the multimillionaire, is engaged to be married to Victor N. Metcalf, the son of the Secretary of the Navy. The Butters family is having more than its share of newspaper notoriety. It is not long since Mrs. Butters, returning from a tour in Europe, became involved with the custom house authorities in a dispute over the non-payment of duty on her daughter's trousseau. The officials intimated that she wished to evade the payment of duty and the lady insisted that the reason she failed to acknowledge that her trunks contained so much dutiable merchandise was to avoid the annoyance of having her baggage all tumbled about by prying deputy collectors. Her close connection with Washington caused the affair to be amplified. The estrangement of the South African magnate and his accomplished wife is a story so old in Berkeley and Piedmont that, in the words of the immortal William, "It hath an ancient and a daisy-like smell."—The Wasp.

AS IT LOOKS TO THEM.

They were discussing the international marriage question the other day on the veranda of the Burlingame club house. Some one said that since Juan Reid had chosen a foreigner he might as well have plucked the fruit that grows on the top of the tree. "His husband is after all a plain Mr.," lamented a lady whose respect for the nobility is perfectly natural, considering that her father is a wealthy wholesale grocer, and she has attained her position through marriage. A woman who belongs to the F. F. V.'s interpreted an objection. "It was not a title that appealed to Jean. What she wanted, probably, was the sort of man that is the product of an old civilization, a man who has time to do her bidding, to listen to her, to answer her, to understand her. A man who brings with him an atmosphere of ancient glory before which mere commercial success pales as does the moon before the sun. The American father is ambitious and democratic, but he has made his daughter an aristocrat without a court, a goddess without an atmosphere to realize her ideals. Therefore, the American girl is forced to turn her eyes beyond the sea. The superiority of the man at her side is not of a kind to touch the imagination of women not sensitive to business success. A man who has no other charm than that of money seldom breaks a heart.

"Jean Reid is like other girls who have traveled much, whose special education at home and abroad has given them a nature which thirsts for things unobtainable in America. She is more touched by the warlike feats of the ancestors of decadent aristocrats than by the personal courage of the American man, who single-handed could make or break a trust."

Of course, there was a chorus of objections to the statement that the "sympathetic" man is an unknown species on this continent. This man and that man of leisure was held up as a sample of the brand we produce, but the F. F. V. said that we had not yet learned to distinguish between a "fashionable man" and a man of "broad culture and leisure." And just then a man came along and ordered a fizz all around and the argument was drowned out.—News Letter.

NEW BISHOP COMING.

The Methodist congregations are waiting on the tip-top of expectancy for the arrival of Bishop Edwin Hughes, L.L.D., who has just been appointed a bishop and assigned to San Francisco. He will succeed Bishop John W. Hamilton. Bishop Hughes is noted in the South and East as a gifted and eloquent divine and is spoken of as the Mathew Simpson of the Board of Bishops. Edwin Holt Hughes was born in Mountville, West Virginia, in December, 1866, and is a son of Rev. Thomas Holt Hughes. He was educated in the public schools of West Virginia, and the State University. He graduated from the Ohio Wesleyan University A. B. in 1889, and A. M. in 1892. From there he attended the Boston University and graduated S. T. B. from the School of Theology, later he graduated S. T. B. from the Syracuse University of Theology. He was pastor at Newton Centre, Mass., from 1892 to 1896 and at Malden, Mass., until 1903, when he was appointed president of the De Paul University, Greenfield, Ind. From this position he resigned to take up his residence in San Francisco.—Town Talk.

ANENT OUR DR. BAKER.

The Rev. E. E. Baker, who for a number of years has been the pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Oakland, has announced that when he leaves the pastorate on August 30 he leaves the pulpit forever. He says his experience since he has ministered to the congregation in Oakland, which has indeed been stormy, places him in such a position that never again can he occupy the sacred desk.

Rev. Baker, as a minister of the Gospel, has caused no end of comment on the part of church-going people by his independent ways. Among other things, he is an enthusiastic golfer. It is no uncommon sight on Saturday afternoons to see the rotund figure of the clergyman, a cigarette in his mouth, following the elusive golf ball around the links at the Claremont Country Club. Because of his unconventional ways some of the staunch old Presbyterian brothers who believe that the minister should be the great living example, objected, but the jolly-tongued pastor, as care free as Friar Tuck, supported by other members not of the old Presbyterian school, let the storm rage around him until he got ready to sever his connections with the church, then announced he would quit, and that his quitting meant now and forever.

The question which is now going the rounds is: What will Dr. Baker do? Will he enter law or real estate? For, being an ex-minister of the gospel it is surely to be expected (judging by what others who have once worn the cloth have done) that he must go into one or the other.—News Letter.

STAGE HUSBANDS AND WIVES.

Appearances are certainly deceitful. If ever there appeared to be two doves in a dove-cote, billing and cooing "Amo" in all its moods and tenors, those two were Mary Manning and James K. Hackett. It was when they were acting in "The Prisoner of Zenda" at the Baldwin that their romance came to a head. "If love were all," Princess Flavia used to murmur, just before the curtain fell. It wasn't. In the case of the pretty English woman and the matinee idol, Marriage came next, and a secret marriage, too. Manager Frohman didn't approve of matrimony for his leading men, especially with their leading women as wives. He gave Isabel Irving to James K. for leading woman after the Manning-Hackett marriage could no longer be kept from the public. After awhile Mary was sent on the road as an independent star. She sued the matinee idol for divorce this week, alleging, so 'tis said, in her complaint, misconduct with this one and that one. Rumor immediately picked Robert Warwick of Katherine Grey's company as husband No. 2 for Mary. But Bob (who is Bob Eden in private life) jumped right up in meeting and said that, much as he admired Mrs. Hackett, he had not the slightest idea of changing his present menage, for he had a dear wife and darling children in Chicago. Mrs. "Blen," by the way, was Arline Peck, a beauty and heiress of Chicago, before her marriage with the handsome Californian.—The Wasp.

SATISFIED AS TO MARRIAGE.

The Spreckels family is satisfied that there has really been a marriage and that Adolph, uncle Adolph, has truly-rooly married Alma de Bretteville. There are few families in the United States who, as a matter of fact, may boast alliance with bluer blood, and the unwise friends who busied themselves denying the fact that uncle Adolph was married are now hedging and preening, for it has been given out that Adolph and his bride will visit with the Danish royalties. It seems that De Bretteville, pere, is the brother of the Baroness Rosenkrantz, and that she and her husband, formerly an ambassador, are great favorites at the Danish court. The honeymooning couple will remain away for nearly a year, and most of the time will be spent in Denmark and Germany. The De Bretteville family has many German and Danish connections, although the family itself is of French origin. The De Brettevilles were "emigres" when the heads of the families of the many friends, who held up their hands in holy horror at the mesalliance, were working in the fields or as street laborers in New York. Adolph has always been the most human of all the Spreckels lot, and it is more than probable that he has made a selection that will ensure a happy and lasting union.—News Letter.

AN HEIRESS' INCOME.

Poor little Elizabeth Hastings will have to scratch along on $300 a month hereafter, for the estate, over which there has been so much court conversation, is heavily in debt and it is as much as the heiress' guardian, Mr. Hoeller, can do to make both ends meet. Miss Hastings is the daughter of the late Mrs. Bessie Coghill Hastings Daniel. She had been receiving $500 a month from her properties until the matter of her competency to manage the whole of her inheritance was decided by the local courts.

The $300 a month will be spent in England, as the heiress likes that country, and is not at all enamored of our rough-and-ready ways out here in the ultimate West, where the large fortune of her grandfather, Supreme Judge Hastings, was made.—The Wasp.

THE NEW MRS. SPRECKELS.

The new Mrs. Spreckels will carry off the palm for pulchritude from all the other members of the Spreckels family and there is plenty of good looks in the bunch. Mrs. Adolph Spreckels has always been a famous beauty and was early discovered by Arnold Genthe. She was one of the first models and photographs of her in jaunty postures formed a frieze for his living room when he and some congenial spirits occupied apartments in Taylor street opposite the old Head mansion in the days before the fire. These Salome-like poses were as beautiful as anything Maud Allan is doing in London.—Town Talk.

THE VERY LATEST.

Something new is coming in the way of automobile coats, Mrs. Linda Bryan went on a jaunt with some of her friends last Sunday, attired in a sure-enough man's coat, and the fit of it left no room for doubt of whether it was borrowed for the occasion or not. Mrs. Bryan received news from the East that the latest rage in automobile coats was one made on a man's lines, but tailored to fit. No one, seeing the heavy, mannish affair, would imagine that it was meant for a very feminine person, but "they" say that the coats are fast gaining favor, and "they" also say that it costs the owner of a lot to get one. Another little fashion in the fad of wearing stiff belting ribbon underneath your lingerie waist collar. If you get it too wide it gives you that lovely choked-off appearance; up to date, however, the thing has not been driven to extremes.—The Wasp.

PLANS A SPLENDID EUROPEAN TRIP.

From my Honolulu correspondent I learn that the Princess Kiwananaka, widow of Prince David, who died in San Francisco lately, is shortly to make a European tour. She will be accompanied by Miss Sargent of San Francisco, who arrived here shortly before the Prince's death and has been the close companion of the Princess ever since. The Princess made a stay of considerable time in New York and the East a year ago, where she was the recipient of great social attentions. She came back manifestly very much pleased and the European trip began to be planned soon afterwards. The relations of the Italian monarchy with the Kakakana dynasty were always very cordial and intimate. So that it is certain the Princess will be received and her rank recognized at the Italian court, and that being so she will probably be received elsewhere. At any rate it is the general expectation here that she will.

The Princess, as the daughter of the late James Campbell, comes in for a share of the income of the big estate he left. This income is just now becoming available. Her husband bequeathed her little estate, it is believed, except his life insurance, which was upward of thirty thousand dollars. But he left her the title and, as Hawaiian titles go, it is a good one, for Prince David could trace his lineage by well authenticated tradition through a line of kings who reigned in Kauai for a thousand years.—Town Talk.

MORE OF BARNETT'S SPOOKS.

Long before the Bartnett spooks attempted to appear in court they used to hold session in the old Judge Selden Wright home, at Sutter and Gough streets, which Mrs. Wright rented to W. J. Bartnett after her husband's death. It was an aristocratic old place, and it is conjectured that Bartnett's ghost friends did not feel as at home there as they might. However, they stifled their ghostly grumbling until young Mr. Wright's dog "Dixie" raised a nightly howl. Mrs. Wright, it must be remembered, had built a home for herself on the large lot, and there she lived, with her son Ralph and his dog "Dixie" and "Dixie" was a very talkative animal. The spooks may have made him more loquacious. Bartnett's ghost put their feet down right there and Bartnett lodged a solemn complaint with the dog's owner. It was bad enough to be chased ignominiously by the mere growl of a cock, but to have a bird dog disturb their sensitive spirits with his disrespectful yelping was more than any self-respecting spook could endure. Probably it was due to Bartnett's refusal to move on that account that the ghosts gave him such damaging advice about the bank funds.—The Wasp.

IN THE WAKE OF THE DIRECTOIRE GOWN.

A chatty young person tells me that the cause of the illness of the two charming young matrons, whose sickness has been such a mystery to society, was simply lack of nutrition brought about by an overambitious diet. It appears that red corpuscles and the Directoire styles are not intended by nature to pair off, and in the effort to accomplish slenderness the corpuscles fainted away. The doctors have prescribed a "building-up" diet much to the disgust of the fashionable patients. A list of the women who have partially or completely wrecked their health in the effort to be slender should be posted as a warning to others. The most interesting example is a stunning young matron who had to spend most of the winter at sanitariums and is now making the rounds of the springs. She attained sylph-like proportions by repressing her appetite. The other day I heard her mother-in-law, who is a very charitable woman, not particularly interested in fashions, tell the young girl who is to marry another son that health came before girth. But society doesn't think so and the exclamation of avowed dupes goes on relentlessly.—Town Talk.

SAN RAFAEL HAS BRIDGE FEVER.

Rosa Valley and San Rafael have had bridge fever the last two weeks, hardly a day passing that has not been enlivened by a bridge party. Mrs. William Prentiss Morgan, who is staying at Hotel Rafael, is one of the best players in the older set, and she has aroused enthusiasm in several others who were content to be fair players, but are now determined to get into the expert class, and as a result, the standard of playing has gone up several notches this summer. It is rather a remarkable fact that some of the best players in San Francisco society belong to the set of young matrons. As a rule, older women carry off the prizes in bridge because they have eliminated everything but sedentary sport from their lives and so can spend much time at the card tables, whereas the younger women have dozens of pleasures and pastimes that compete with bridge. Nevertheless, if a list were drawn up of the very best players, it would contain a surprising number of young women.—News Letter.

A ROMANCE OF GUATEMALA.

The newspaper fuss over President Cabrera of Guatemala recalls the fact that he had an affair of the heart in which figured a buxom San Francisco widow and her beautiful daughter. "Mamma" had been industriously engaged to writing up boom editions for several local papers when the idea was suggested to her that Guatemala offered a magnificent opportunity for exploitation in the line of a "history." The buxom one acted on the tip, and at once set sail, in company with her daughter, for the land of promise. Having been provided with letters that assured her introduction into the best society, the historian called upon Cabrera and unfolded her plot. Cabrera, from all accounts, favored the widow as well as the scheme. He endorsed her work and at the same time assiduously wooed the fair San Franciscan. When he met her daughter it was a case of his heart being punctured in two places. The lady's book prospered beyond all dreams. In fact, over $60,000 was contracted for, and the promoter got most of her subscriptions in advance. When the time for parting came it was only to be temporary, as Cabrera understood, for the lady wisely conducted through an agent in forwarding of her books, which were printed in New York. She saw Cabrera no more. He seemed willing so the fair enchantress declared, to have the laws of Guatemala amended so that he could legally marry the widow. The idea was a novel one, but it was never put into practice.—The Wasp.

HONOLULU'S ALOHA TO THE FLEET.

According to press advices Honolulu awaits the arrival of the fleet with bated breath. Long and earnest have been the discussions as to the best method of entertaining the sailors. One party, headed by a well-known minister, is in favor of inviting them to an icecream social and offering them a bed with the Salvation Army. The reverend gentleman is profligate with suggestions. He points out the beauties of a nice walk out to Diamond Head and enthuses over the pleasures of a swim off Waikiki. These suggestions are all very well in connection with others, but one is driven to the belief that some of the preachers out that way know about as much concerning the natural recreations of a healthy young American as a Kuna does about Greek. Social and companionable enjoyments are what a Jackle wants ashore. Walks out into the country to see pretty scenery or salt water baths with which he is surfeited at sea do not appeal to him. One is inclined to think that the American navy is to be commended in that its personnel is not composed of such insipid, sloppy icecream and milk and water material as the minister suggests. The men who render it possible for the reverend gentleman to belabor the heathen with words are luckily made of more virile material.—News Letter.

MATCHMAKERS AMONG US.

The matchmakers are not discouraged because several prognostications made in the beginning of the season are still floating around in the upper regions of uncertainty. Romantic speculations do not always pay dividends, but it's an interesting game for those who like to scuff their heels on Cupid's sandals. The latest sunrise concerns the heart affairs of Miss Gaillos, who has recently returned from Europe with her mother. Through her friend, Miss Mary Kearney, Miss Gaillos has become very friendly with Miss Florence Hopkins and has spent much of her time visiting at the country estates in San Mateo county. The young man, whom Mrs. Grundy's alert eye has selected is not, however, particularly identified with the Burlingame set. Miss Gaillos is a very pretty girl, brunette in coloring with a fascinating manner in keeping with her ancestry, which is French on her father's side and Spanish on her mother's. Madame Gaillos was a Miss Plaisir, a member of the well-known family of that name.—Town Talk.

MAY REGRET HE PLAYED NIMROD.

Quit a stir was created in San Rafael over the killing of the four blooded horses belonging to A. W. Foster. The stir became a humming zephyr among the elect of the smart set when the name of the offender was discovered. It transpires that the culprit had been up all night striving to support the heavy lid of a punch bowl at a merry gathering. As the other guests gradually departed his labors increased, till at the last he stood, or rather tried to stand, like Atlas, alone. In the wee sma' hours of the morning he was in a fit humor for adventures, so he took to the adjacent woods and gardens to amuse himself as a mighty hunter. In his wanderings he came across the Foster horses and the lamentable incident followed.—Town Talk.

A CLUBWOMAN'S DIVORCE.

Ebell Club, that smart organization over the bay, having exhausted its topics of trial-ensangements and trial marriages, now focuses its interest upon trial-divorces, pointing the discussion over the Ernest Cottons' case. Over a year ago when the Cottons agreed to separate, Mrs. Cotton's Ebell acquaintances prophesied a divorce suit as the sequel and therefore little surprise was expressed when their fellow member filed her suit last week. She had not been in Oakland for some months, except for brief stays, as since her separation from Mr. Cotton, a wealthy contractor, she had been living in Santa Cruz with her parents. Just recently she has been the house guest of Mrs. F. O. Hihn, the multimillionaire of Santa Cruz county. It was in Santa Cruz, about twenty years ago, that Mrs. Cotton, then Mrs. Harriet Chafe, was married to the wealthy contractor of Oakland.—The Wasp.

HER FAT DOT.

King Edward might well beam his royal approval on the marriage of his favorite quarry with the daughter of the American Ambassador. Miss Reid will one day have the sum of $25,000 to spend on her clothes and house furnishings. Very few heiresses have such an endowment. When Jean Reid was visiting at her grandpapa's country place a few seasons ago, at the time a bunch of British polo players were in Burlingame, she was much rushed by a certain Captain Menzies. The captain, however, averred that it was not her money that attracted him, but the charming, unaffected manner of the young girl, who had been absolutely unspoiled by the adulation it has been heaped upon her from the moment of her debut. There are lots of nice girls without dots who are "charming, unaffected manner" is unquestioned. Why aren't they rushed?—The Wasp.

NEW RULE AT NEWPORT.

The interesting news from Newport that the unpaid $3000 butcher bill of the Bruhlens has been adjusted is accompanied by the defiant pronouncement that the tradesmen of Newport have combined to force delinquent patrons to a settlement of their long-avoided accounts. Still more interesting is the information that the fashionable Newporters who pay up monthly are in favor of forcing the slow-pays into the law courts. It's unfair to give pink teas and society circuses on the ready-cash plan when the majority of Newporters may be doing the same thing on credit.—The Wasp.

THE JUDGE AND THE LADY.

He is a judge already arrived at the portly stage, and she is a sprightly girl of sixty. With her beautiful features, none of whom are much below the forty mark she often steps at the fairmont. The judge has been her special object of admiration ever since she fastened her coquettish eyes upon him thirty years ago. He takes the attentions with certain tolerance born of necessity, although he has been modestly intimate that his wife's approach is beyond repair. It is only since the attentions began to assume materialization at a decidedly uncomfortable time of night, however, that the good judge seriously considers means of protection. It was a dark night and late very late, during the visit of the fleet. There was a tap on the judge's door. There were three or four more before the judge took notice of them. "What rich client of mine would make his will at this unpropitious hour?" quoth the judge, as he crept painfully from his downy couch. "He thinks it's an important case, indeed." He opened the door. On the threshold stood a bulbox about hidden behind a huge bouquet of Cecil Brunner roses. "It's for you, judge. A lady says to give 'em to you." A card was tacked with the "lady's" name. "Get 'em—out of here, and take those roses with you," said the judge. And now the judge feels peevish.—The Wasp.

A POPULAR BACHELOR.

Now that Mrs. Maddox and her son Knox have taken the Russell Tison house for two years, the latter's friends say that there is a prospect of his spreading out as a society host. As a friend of all the popular young men and women of the Greenway and Gladys sets, Mr. Maddox would not have to look far for guests a any functions he might conclude to host.—The Wasp.

BACK FROM EUROPE.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry P. Umber have returned from a six months' tour of Europe, prior to which they traveled through Canada. They have been spending a week with the G. H. "Mbsens," who have leased the Mr. Nair residence in Ross for the summer. The place is an exceedingly pretty one, in the most fashionable part of Ross, and commanding a splendid view of Tamalpais. The climate there is delightful.—The Wasp.

DID HENEY OWE THE GASMAN?

One wonders how prosperous the graft prosecution is when one hears that a month ago Henevy came near being obliged to burn the midnight oil tallow candle to work up his case since the San Francisco Gas Company absolutely refused to deliver any more gas until a three months' old bill was paid. And Henevy's gas bill must be enormous if one counts the hot air the must consume in order to give out so much.—Town Talk.

COLONY OF WRITERS.

A new colony of writers for the magazines and newspapers is rapidly developing in Mendocino county, between Shorwood and Laytonville, not far from the route of the new trunk line to Eureka which the Northwestern Pacific Railroad is building from Willits, its present terminus. Helen Dore, J. W. Scott, Jack Boyle, Arthur Dutton, O. M. Boyle, as well as several associate members of the Press Club, have taken up land there, much of it contiguous, until there is quite a journalistic atmosphere in that picturesque locality.—News Letter.

THEIR SECOND HONEYMOON.

A scene that might serve for a delightful bit of comedy in high life recently took place in New York when Mrs. Belle Perkins met her husband, Dr. Perkins, after a separation of eight years. Mrs. Perkins is well known in Nevada as Lillie Meddow; more especially she is known in Virginia City where her father handled very important engineering work in some of the big stock mines. Shortly after her fashionable wedding with Dr. Perkins the two discovered they could not agree on anything except to live apart. The doc or accepted an important position under the British government in the Orient and sailed on a west-bound steamer while his wife booked her passage eastward and took up her residence in New York. Not long ago she wrote him that she had decided that their separation had better be transformed into a complete divorce. Accordingly the doctor came on from India to help out as much as possible in the details. One evening it happened she was an early guest at a party in the house of a common friend. It also happened that the doctor arrived rather early also. It was their first meeting in many, many years. Mrs. Perkins was equal to the occasion and greeted her husband with all the cordiality at her command. He tried to surpass her with the result that they both decided they were very much in love again. All ideas of a divorce were dropped and now they are on an extended second honeymoon.—Town Talk.

ON THE BRINK.

On dit that another society menage is on the verge of collapse and the gossips are wondering if the peace-makers can patch up the difficulties and prevail upon the young girl-wife to return to her lawful spouse. He is many years her senior and was a very wealthy and sought-after society bachelor before his marriage to the little schoolgirl, not so many moons ago.—The Wasp.

TOM HILL'S EXPERIENCE WITH STANFORD.

Tom Hill, who died last week, was one of the last of the veteran guard of artists whose name extended outside the confines of the State. Landscapes were his forte and for years he was one of the best known figures in the Sierras, his studio headquarters for many reasons being at Wawona, the gateway to the Yosemite Valley. Chris Jorgensen was his favorite pupil and succeeded to his place in the valley. Perhaps the picture which attracted most attention to Tom Hill was the much discussed "Last Spike." The painting was supposed to be a reproduction of the scene representing the driving of the last spike in the completion of the first trans-continental railroad, the Central Pacific. Hill spent a great deal of time on the canvas. In the foreground, finishing the ceremony, Stanford loomed conspicuous, while his partners were dwarfed in the background. Some of the men he depicted were deliberately left out of the picture and his intimate friends were given prominent positions. All this detail in reproducing good likenesses of representative men required infinite labor and Hill worked early and late on it, almost ruining his eyesight. Before it was completed several of the railroad magnates opposed to Stanford heard what was going on and had an agent secretly examine the painting. Such a lively row followed at the next meeting of the directors that Stanford deemed it advisable to drop the picture and everything connected with it. Hill always claimed that Stanford had promised him a very large sum of money for the painting; he never received a cent and for years was heartbroken over the outcome.—Town Talk.

EDITORIAL COMMENTS ON NOMINEE OF THE G. O. P.

Pertinent Paragraphs Concerning Career and Future of the Next President of the United States.

CONSIDERED 'AUSPICIOUS' FOR TAFT'S CANDIDACY

Unless the ingredient of superstition is wholly omitted in the make-up of William Howard Taft, the refusal of C. W. Trickett of Kansas City, Kans., to accept the nomination for President on the Prohibition ticket ought to impress him as a lucky circumstance, or, as they say in Kansas, "auspicious."

REASONABLE PROFIT FOR THE TRUSTS

What is a "reasonable profit" for the industrial trusts to charge over and above the difference between the cost of production at home and abroad? The Republican managers who are hand and glove with the protected trusts and combines evidently know, but are afraid to inform the voters, for the Republican platform declares that:

Taft Makes Wise Selection of Man

THE FAITH OF THE AMERICAN PEOPLE RENEWED

Wealth-Worship Has Seen Its Last Days

But all the while we did not lack the warnings of wise men of what was sure to follow. Seventy years ago De Tocqueville told Europe that the older nations would have to reckon with the coming power of the newest, before the advent of wealth-worship send it along the path of decadence, trodden by every previous republic.

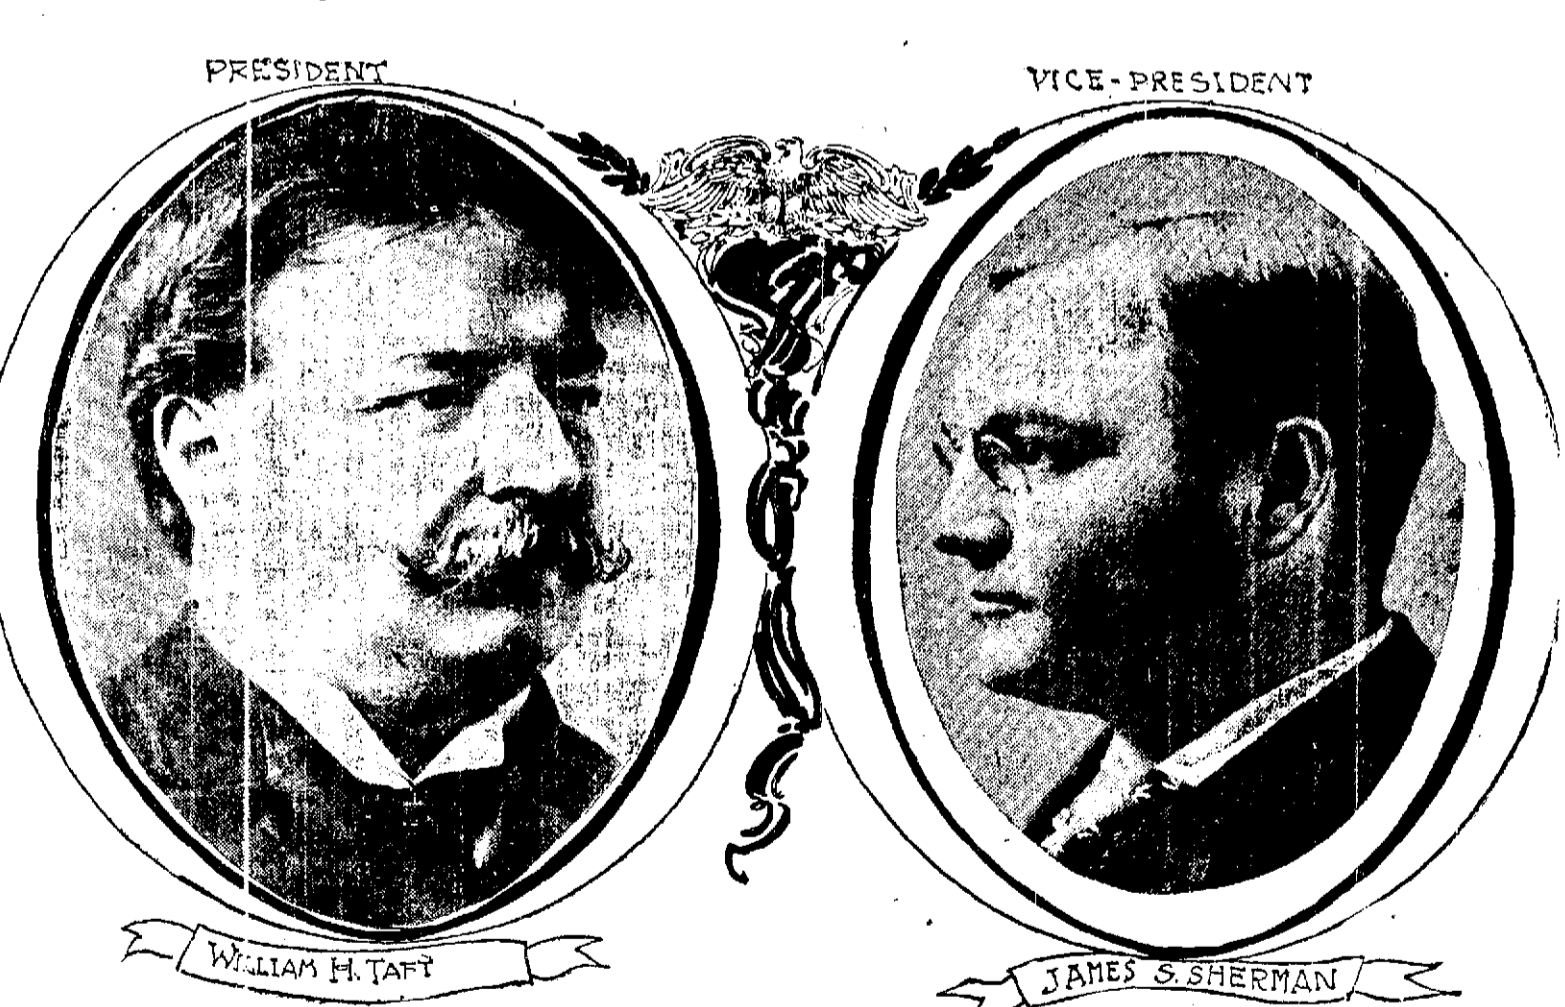

Roosevelt an Exponent, Not a Creator

We shall insist always that Roosevelt was the exponent and not the creator. He brought into being nothing new. He was simply the crier appointed to rouse from its long-drugged sleep the spirit which made of scattered colonies a nation, by the action of a few such men, in this city 132 years ago.

Believes the President Will Be Taft

What have been the results of the coming of the right man at the right time? Let us speak of symptoms first. The country has a choice of a President before it. Gazing back through all past campaigns, we can recall no other instance when the choice lay between two such absolute American patriots—incorruptible and devoted; fighters against the heresies that any privilege can stand between the people and the common good; clean throughout their whole careers, in intent and conduct; pure in their entire public and private lives; servants of none save their country.

HOW TO WAGE WAR ON OAK CATERPILLAR

State Forester Informs Owners of Trees How They Can Save Them.

Office of the State Forester, Sacramento, California, July 9, 1936.
To the Editor of THE OAKLAND TRIBUNE:—Sir: Through your paper and from personal observation I am acquainted with the fact that large numbers of live oak trees have been defoliated in the vicinity of Palo Alto, San Francisco and Berkeley during the past summer.

It has also been called to my attention that Prof. C. W. Woodward of the University of California has described in Circular No. 18, entitled "Caterpillars on Oaks," the particular species of insect which is responsible for this defoliation. SIMPLE AND EFFECTIVE.

In this circular Prof. Woodward has outlined what appears to be a very simple and yet effective means of checking the depredations of the insect called California Oak Caterpillar (Pyriganda Californica).

I doubt if many of those whose trees have been defoliated are acquainted with the fact that a circular has been issued dealing thoroughly with this subject, and I believe you will perform an important service of you will call attention through your paper, to the fact that this circular No. 18, may be obtained free of charge by addressing the director of the agricultural experiment station at Berkeley, Cal.

PROTECTIVE MEASURES.
With the information regarding protective measures which this circular contains practically any owner of live oak trees can save his trees from destruction by the caterpillar.

It has been called to my attention by Mr. V. S. Barber of the Bureau of Entomology, Washington, D. C., that a second crop of caterpillars is now ready to emerge and commence their destructive work, hence this would appear to be a very opportune time to advise the public to secure information on the insect and commence protective measures. Very truly yours,

G. B. LULL,
State Forester.

Political Troubles of Iowa Mayor Cause Him to Shun the World.

DUBUQUE, Iowa, July 11.—Mayor H. A. Schunk, who disappeared recently, was yesterday found in the "Trappist" Monastery, eighteen miles from Dubuque. Troubles in legal and political affairs are assumed as the cause for the official's desire to shun the world.

There was much speculation as to the whereabouts of the mayor. When the fact that he had gone to the monastery became known it was reported he had been complaining of ill-health of late.

AMERICAN TEAM WINS INTERNATIONAL SHOOT

ENGLAND IS SECOND AT OLYMPIC GAMES MATCH

Other European Nations Far Behind, but Canada Has Good Score

BISLEY, England, July 11.—With a lead of ten points as the result of yesterday's shooting at the three shorter distances, the American team, at the longer ranges, kept ahead and won the international team match, the principal event in the rifle competitions being held in connection with the Olympic games.

ENGLAND SECOND PLACE.

The Americans, however, at 800 yards, increased their lead to 18 points, scoring 416, thus bringing their aggregate score for the four distances up to 1737. The English team maintained second place, making an aggregate of 1714. Canada was third team on the list and lost many points yesterday, their total for the four distances being only 1678.

The official announcement of the 800 yards individual match shoot yesterday gives the gold medal to Helger of Norway, who scored 904; the silver medal to Lieutenant Soren of Ohio, with 885, and the bronze medal to Sathen of Norway with 879.

AMERICAN IS THIRD.

The protest of the American against the miss with which he was credited in the individual revolver contest has been disallowed. The gold silver and bronze medals in this contest were today officially awarded respectively as follows: Van Aerboom, Belgium, with 490; Storms, Belgium, with 487, and Aste, America, with 450. Both the American and the English teams shot well at the long distances. For a time the Canadians threatened to win. Four of them at the start made every shot a bullseye, but three of the team broke down with the last shot and Sergeant Smith alone got the highest possible. Three other Canadians, Captain Crow, Private Williams and Corporal McInnes, scored 74 each, but but the total was spoiled by Sergeant Kerre, who got but 67.

BRILLIANT SHOOTING.

The shooting of the Americans was brilliant and evoked the greatest praise. None of them made the highest score, but no fewer than three of the six men scored 75, while Eastman got 71. This splendid showing gave the Americans a total for this range of 430 out of a possible 450. The visitors were greatly satisfied with this score.

The continental teams in the competition are away behind. Their aggregates up to the present time are: Sweden 1607; France, 1693; Norway, 1567; Greece, 1459; Denmark, 1410. The American team increased its lead still further at the 900-yard range, scoring 405 for this distance, while England made but 399 and Canada 385. The aggregates now are: America, 2132; England, 2113; Canada, 2072. The greatest interest is being shown in the shooting of these three teams.

WOMEN CHEER AMERICANS.

Many American women have journeyed down to Bisley to cheer their countrymen. The calm confidence of the Americans is a matter of general remark.

Captain Casey of Delaware did not do so well at the 900-yard range, finishing with 67. Winder, however, kept up his good shooting and scored 72. The other individual totals were: Martin 71, Luescher and Eastman 67, Benedict 61. The total for the range, 405, was a pretty serious falling off. The lapse was general among all the teams, however, and less marked in the case of the Americans than any other. Luescher's low score at this range lost him the distinction of getting the best individual score, which he had held throughout the contest. He was succeeded, however, by another American, Martin, whose aggregate of 351 points put him one point in front of the Canadian Sergeant Smith. The aggregates for the remaining teams at the end of this range were: France, 1668; Sweden, 1644; Norway, 1596; Greece, 1521; Denmark, 1459.

AMERICANS TO BE ON WATCH

Precautions Taken to Insure a Fair Election for President in Panama—There Is Prospect of Trouble.

PANAMA, July 11.—The electoral situation has been much cleared by the withdrawal of Ricardo Arias, the constitutional candidate for the Presidency, but in spite of this the adherents of Obaldia, the independent candidate, have not relaxed their efforts and it is planned to elect Senator Obaldia as conclusively as possible.

AMERICAN INTERVENTION. Since the withdrawal of Arias the possibility of American intervention is much more remote, but even so, the condition of affairs is critical. The followers of Arias will be at the polls and trouble and disorder are not by any means out of the question.

The governor of the canal zone has sent to every town of the republic commissioners to watch the elections and take note of everything that occurred. Among these men are thirteen American army officers and as many more employees of the Canal Commission.

SENTIMENT WITH OBALDIA. The sentiment of the country is undoubtedly with Obaldia, who is supported by the liberal party, which counts at least 60 per cent of the population of Panama and half of the constitutionalists. Obaldia is a wealthy cattle owner of Chiriqui, son of an ex-president of Colombia, and has in the past been governor of the State of Panama and acting president of the republic.

If the people see that their right to vote as they please is not respected there is bound to be serious disorders, because there are many who would prefer MUST BE FAIR.

The American authorities are fully prepared to see that the elections are fair and to put down any serious trouble with energy.

Two hundred and seventy-six presidential electors are to be chosen, and out of this total it is predicted no less than 100 will vote for Obaldia. The elections will meet on August 1 to elect a President.

CARPENTERS SHORT $5000 IN FUNDS

Former Treasurer of Union Explains He Used the Money in His Business.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 11.—John Hood, formerly treasurer of the District Council of Carpenters, has been found short of his accounts with the council about $5000, according to a report of the auditing committee, but he will be able to make up a large part of the shortage by a disposal of his personal property, and it is possible he will be able to return to the union amount to the organizations to which it belongs.

The shortage was first made known to the council a week ago last Wednesday morning, but it remained a secret among the members until yesterday.

USED IN BUSINESS. Hood has endeavored to explain the delinquency by stating that he had used the money in his own business with the confident belief that he would have it on hand when its use was later demanded.

According to the statement made yesterday, the money was made part of a fund contributed by the various unions affiliated with the District Council to be used for the aid of striking carmen more than a year ago.

MAY RECOVER PART. It had recently been determined to distribute this money among the unions collecting it.

It is believed by those familiar with the conditions that Hood had in the gain at least a large portion of his funds. The bonds of the treasurer, which amount to $500, will aid in making up the delinquency.

At the meeting of the council last Wednesday night W. A. Cole was elected to replace Hood as treasurer.

SWEET MARIE WINS NOTED TROTTING EVENT IN EAST

BRADVILLE, Mass., July 11.—Sweet Marie won the free for all race at the New England breeders' track for the trotting championship of the world yesterday, capturing the first and third heats and losing the second to Major Delmar. Wilkes Heart was a poor third except in the second heat, when he took second place after a hard struggle for the lead. The best time was made in the first heat, 2:06 1-2.

In the final heat Major Delmar got away from the wire at top speed and led by a length at the quarter pole, but Andrews drove Sweet Marie hard in the back stretch and, passing McDonald at the three-quarters, won easily. Wilkes Heart had a slight advantage in the second until the home stretch was reached, when he weakened, allowing Major Delmar to win handily. Sweet Marie made a bad break soon after the field got the word, and trailed behind, but coming home he barely missed beating Wilkes Heart for second place.

The time for this heat was 2:04 1-4, the first half-mile being covered in 1:02 1-4. Major Delmar and Wilkes Heart raced

PERSISTENT LOSER IS KERN WHO RUNS WITH BRYAN

JOHN WORTH KERN, nominated by the Democratic National Convention for Vice-President.

Discouraging Record of Second Man on the Democratic Ticket

INDIANAPOLIS, July 11.—Telegrams received here today from John Worth Kern, Democratic candidate for vice president, announce that he will remain at Denver until Monday when he will go to Lincoln with the members of the national Democratic committee to call on Mr. Bryan. Mr. Kern will reach Chicago Wednesday and will return to Indianapolis Thursday. Arrangements are being made for his reception here.

HISTORY OF DEAL.

DENVER, July 11.—The nomination of John W. Kern for the office of vice president was dictated by Boss Tam Taggart of the French Lick Hotel. Both parties confess to the consummation of the deal.

Stimulated by the fact that he had put forth to hide the truth, but without avail. To facts are all known to the general public as well as to the inside politicians.

The deal was made when Taggart needed Kern's support to re-elect him national committee man from Indiana last Tuesday. It was consummated by a side show steering committee in the early hours and Kern was present in Charles W. Bryan's private office in the Brown Palace Hotel.

Present were the convention steering committee, Charles W. Bryan, Governor Haskell, Gray Woodson and Ollie James of Kentucky. Kern and John C. Lamb of Indiana and Taggart as the chairman of the national committee.

The meeting lasted thirty-five minutes, after which the members scattered about among the leaders to pass the word.

SULLIVAN GIVES WORD. A few minutes before the convention assembled, Roger Sullivan of Illinois announced himself for Kern. The latter was not present at the session.

Kern has for many years been closely associated with Taggart in Indiana Democratic politics. He is as strong a man in the State as Taggart himself, and the balance of power has several times shifted between them.

He appeared for Taggart in the famous case of the State of Indiana against Taggart's French Lick Springs Hotel Company, brought by the attorney-general of the State to revoke the company's charter because it was conducting a gambling den. The work of Kern and his assistants defeated the quo warranta case and saved Taggart's resort.

FINANCIAL LINK. The financial link between them is Crawford Fairbanks, owner of the Terre Haute brewery, and head of the liquor dealers' organization in Indiana. Fairbanks is a heavy stockholder in the gambling and health resorts Taggart runs.

Kern has displayed no telling a genius in protecting Fairbanks' brewery and liquor interests that he was chosen as the man to save the gambling trust.

PERPETUAL LOSER. The convention was called upon to "nominate a winner," but when Kern was put on the ticket, Bryan's name was linked with one of the most consistent and graceful losers that Democracy in all its history has ever held within its bosom.

He was twice defeated for governor of Indiana once before the members for United States Senator, and once again he was defeated for State senator, city prosecutor of Kokomo, representative of the State court of Indiana, which corresponds to the Supreme Court of Illinois and was for ten years city attorney of Indianapolis.

When his practice, aided by Taggart and Fairbanks, became large in the service of several large corporations. Kern has always been regarded in his party as an "Old Line" Democrat. That is, he has not been in sympathy with the reform movements. He was one of Taggart's staunch supporters for nomination and election in 1904.

His record for Governor in 1904, and his defeat of Bryan, again in 1905, he was defeated, running well ahead of Barker. Senator Beveridge outmaneuvered him in a campaign for the senate, and the first time that Kern was a candidate for the state senate he was defeated.

Kern had ambitions to become a member of the national committee. Despite his close alliance with Taggart, his ambition led him to venture a test of strength. Taggart, apparently was not confident that he could muster more delegates than Kern for he called him on to stand for an alternative proposition to make him the candidate for the Vice Presidency.

Kern, without any reserves today, said that Taggart had been his Warwick. GRATEFUL TO GOSS. "I owe my election to this great honor to Thomas Taggart, who stood for my nomination from the first, and refused to back down before the claims of any other man," he said after the nomination.

"I did not ask him to get for me the nomination," he continued. "I am happy and satisfied that I made no effort to win the prize. The fact is that I did not think the convention thought enough of my qualifications to return me a winner. I am not rich; I am not brilliant, I am not distinguished."

He is a tall man, 58 years of age. He affects a broad tan hat of felt and is more vigorous than at any other time when he is greeting the rural voters of his constituents.

He wears a beard which is black and streaked with gray. His cheeks are shaven, and the mustache merges into the beard with no visible boundary line.

THINK THEY KNOW INK SLINGING MAN

Ladies' Tailor Arrested and Released by San Francisco Police Is Being Watched.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 11.—That Joseph Goffey, a ladies' tailor, recently arrested on suspicion of being the vandal who is ruining women's dresses by ink throwing, is the culprit for whom the entire police department is on the lookout, is the belief of Chief of Police Blaggy. Goffey, after being held in delinquent for three days, was released last week on his promise to go to Chicago. But he did not go, and resumed his occupation of ladies' tailor and, Chief Blaggy thinks, his vocation as ink-thrower as well.

CAREFUL ESPIONAGE. Saturday the police were apprised of the fact that Goffey was still in town. Detectives were at once put upon his track and he was located and kept under a careful espionage until Monday night, when he was lost.

On Tuesday he was picked up again and kept in sight until Wednesday, and again he eluded the detectives. Chief Blaggy points out as significant that on each occasion when Goffey was lost sight of the mysterious ink-thrower ruined a woman's gown on Van Ness avenue—that of Mrs. Ford on Monday and Miss Ives on Wednesday.

PRISONER DESCRIBED. Goffey is employed irregularly as cutter for K. Max, a ladies' tailor, at 1707 California street, near Van Ness avenue. He is about 5 feet 8 inches in height, dark complexioned, with a black mustache and usually wears a blue serge suit.

Chief Blaggy stated yesterday that two or three bulbs such as are used for filling fountain pens had been taken from Goffey's room after his arrest, and that a stain, apparently of ink, that was in the inside coat pocket of Goffey when he was arrested, was cut out and destroyed.

MANY BURGLARIES ARE REPORTED TO POLICE

Bold Thieves Carry on a Wholesale Plundering

The largest number of burglaries that have been reported to the police in any one day in several months was recorded at police headquarters during the past twenty-four hours.

Nick Farnham reports that coin to the amount of $15 was stolen from a locker room at the rear of his restaurant. The money was in the pocket of a pair of trousers hanging in the locker.

The room of Ralph Melcher, 586 Clay street, was entered by means of a key yesterday afternoon and clothing to the value of $15 was stolen.

On complaint of Mrs. E. G. Gals of 1523 Twenty-third street that who had been robbed of a diamond ring valued at $75, detectives searched the pawnshops of the city and soon recovered it. They are now engaged in a search for the thief, of whom they have a description.

W. I. Abrams of 1112 Albee street, J. K. Minkowsky of 1665 Webster street report the theft of their bicycles.

SECRET MARRIAGE LOSES $500,000

Bride Who Was a Widow Cut Out of Wealth by Will of Former Husband.

LOS ANGELES, July 11.—As a result of the exposure of the secret marriage of Herbert Wayne, a wealthy banker of this city and Mrs. Carrie Derby, a prominent society woman of San Francisco, on Tuesday evening, the bride is dangerously ill with a nervous prostration, an estate of $500,000 hopelessly involved and the beautiful daughter of Mrs. Derby is heartbroken over her mother's actions.

Over all hangs a shroud of mystery which Cupid alone can lift. The bride is mystified at the manner in which the news of the wedding got out. The daughter wonders "What in the world made her mother do such foolish things."

ESTATE MUGGLED. It is bound by the bequest of a former husband of Mrs. Derby, which would make it revert to their heirs in just such an emergency as this.

The wedding which has proved so disastrously held at the home of Dr. T. B. Heard a friend of the couple, in San Bernardino, in order that it might be celebrated with the utmost privacy. By the marriage license was filed privately, and its whereabouts now is still a matter of conjecture.

BRIEF BRIDAL TRIP. After the ceremony Mrs. Wayne took a motor automobile, having less than a day, and in the bride came to Los Angeles. Mr. Wayne immediately hastened to Salt Lake City on business.

In the meantime the charming 18-year-old daughter of Mrs. Wayne heard a rumor, and when her mother turned confronted her with the charge "Why, oh, dear," laughingly denied it. Mrs. Wayne, however, thought differently and after further investigation wrote a confession from her mother.

HALF MILLION LOST. Mrs. Wayne's former husband had a half-million dollar will has been lost to her, further the burden of the bride, if it is an entirely lost, the money will be lost in litigation.

Now the daughter angrily resents the disclosure concerning the affair, but makes it perfectly plain that her stepfather was not needed to overturn her cup of happiness. Mr. Wayne is back to Los Angeles straight on out of the state, and according to the news of his pretty stepdaughter, his will simply mean a declaration of war.

The condition of Mrs. Wayne's shattered nervous system is such as to make it impossible for her to do anything concerning the affair, but makes it perfectly plain that her stepfather was not needed to overturn her cup of happiness. No new cases were reported to the police yesterday, and the police are hoping that the announcement of a special detail of boys and women along Van Ness avenue, doing detective duty, has discouraged the miscreant.

PLANS TO VISIT HER MOTHER HERE

MRS. GEO. W. BOWLER. After Stay in South, Young Matron to Be Received in Piedmont Home.

Mr. George Bowler of San Diego is soon to visit his mother, Mrs. Helen Kidd of Rose Avenue, Piedmont. Mrs. Bowler was formerly an Oakland girl and has a host of friends here who have planned a most delightful affair in her honor.

For several years past Mrs. Bowler has resided in the southern part of the State, where her husband, G. W. Bowler, is a prominent real estate broker.

CHAMPION MONEY SPENDER HAS COME

Promoter Pays $50 a Day at Hotel and Scatters Coin on Every Side.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 11.—The champion money spender has arrived in town. His name is H. G. Robinson, and he is staying at the St. Francis.

He pays $50 a day to live at the hotel, but also patronizes the rich cafes in a manner that ordinary mortals would think reckless. Robinson's way of spending is merely reckless.

An auditor at $50 or $75 a day is kept at the door in readiness for him. Sometimes he goes it.

A bellboy's tip is one dollar. All change on the bar belongs to the bartender.

JUST HIS STYLE. That is just the style of H. G. Robinson. Never since Lord Talbot Clifton was here under the careful guidance of White Star McCarty has there been a man so liberal with his money.

Robinson is a promoter and in his business conversation he says that he will "smash" anything under seven figures. Recently Al Meyers, a Goldfield mining man, sold out his interests in Combination Fraction. Robinson suggested to him that he should not return to Nevada until Robinson was through entertaining him. Meyers showed his railroad train reservations, but Robinson replied that if he returned on the following evening could not be obtained he would hire a special for him.

IN SOCIAL matters the smart set in America follows the lead of London, rather than that of any of the large cities on the continent. England and America have the same racial traditions, and England has led the way down the ages in social observances as well as along other lines. England is most conservative, very slow to change, so when radical changes in its social world are announced, America's smart set immediately takes notice.

It usually copies the changes, with a promptness that is remarkable and amazing. And so it is of much interest to us to read of certain changes in the English method of entertaining that we are to copy in the near future. Big balls have been succeeded by smaller dances more or less informal and a certain revival has taken place in the way of breakfast parties, the fashion started by King Edward, who gave a few informal gatherings, soon had several imitators. The invitations are for 10 o'clock, the number of guests is limited to six or eight, and the menu is somewhat plain and old-fashioned.

Social life goes on in England as ever, but certain slight modifications show that the English move with the times, and tend in many ways toward the modes of modern democracy.

Calls and card leaving will serve as an example. To women in society very moment is important, and we today are by no means willing to spend our lives in scattering pasteboard. So we announce our arrival in town in the papers, and then, perhaps, send around some cards through a shop, or by one's own servant.

We certainly take things easier than we did. In the old days to leave cards after a dinner or a dance was like a law of the Medes and Persians. Now it is by no means an invariable rule, and cards are often not left until several weeks after.

Dinner invitations are now planned differently from those of other days. In London during the season, they used to take the form of a printed card, and were sent out quite a month in advance, and in winter or spring a fortnight's notice was often given.

Now such doling could be thought more than second rate. In these days notes are written or the invitation is sent by wire or telephone, and ten days is thought ample time, even for an important dinner, while in the case of a small dinner two or three days, or even a few hours is generally given.

Ball invitations sometimes appear in printed cards, but certain ultra smart women, intending to give a small, exclusive dance, will write notes or even pencil on their visiting cards, "Come and dance on Thursday next if ten." And this means a large and appreciative acquaintance.

JUDGE HALL AND FAMILY.

Judge and Mrs. Samuel Hall are comfortably established with their family in the country home at Felton, which they have occupied for so many summers in the past.

There are so many young people in the family that there are always guests and most of the time is spent in out-of-door expeditions.

There are many places one may visit from Felton, and a day at the Santa Cruz beach is always possible, and one reaches it through one of the most picturesque redwood canyons in the State.

Mr. and Mrs. Whipple Hall and their little daughter have gone to Felton, where they are to be the guests for some days of the Samuel Halls.

MATTER OF SOCIAL CALLS.

Social life has much more real pleasure in it than it used to have when things were more formal. Of course, there are many social conventions which everyone observes, but in the more strenuous life which has come to be our portion we have learned to dispense with much that is unnecessary.

Among the latter is the formal exchange of calls, and the calling list which used to be the bête noir of the busy housekeeper.

Official circles in Washington must keep up the custom, of course, but for the rest of us, we make first calls on our new neighbors, or on the strangers sojourning within our gates, and we let the whole calling custom go at that.

For if we have substituted something far more normal. We ask our friends to bring their sewing for an afternoon, the most delightful way one can possibly spend an afternoon. Every one is busy, and is therefore entertained, and one can enjoy a charming little reunion with friends one really cares for. It is very little trouble to a hostess, and she enjoys it quite as much as her guests.

Or one asks one's friends informally for a game of bridge, and here again every one has a thoroughly good time. For one asks congenial people, and bridge of itself interests them.

Much has been written and said against bridge, but many people play it now, and the objections raised against it apply only to very few people. Of course, one likes to win a prize, as one likes to win anything else in the world. Life is a great game of playing for prizes, and we call them by different names—that's all.

The woman who loses her temper over bridge is very rare indeed, no matter what people may say, and you may play bridge for many moons and never meet the woman who plays for money.

So among the pleasant full-summer afternoons there are charming little bridge games, with a simple prize, and with dainty refreshments afterwards. In winter, social activities are insistent, but in summer one does much as one pleases, and the stay-at-home family finds much to make its summer a happy one.

Among those whom one has met in town this week are Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Luning, Mr. and Mrs. P. E. Bowles, Mr. and Mrs. William High, Mrs. Isaac Requa, Mr. and Mrs. Mark Requa, Mr. and Mrs. William de Fremery, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Pruther, Mr. Thomas Pruther, Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Coghill, Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Ide Wheeler, Doctor and Mrs. Charles Rowe, Mrs. George H. Wheaton, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Woodbury, Miss Woodbury, Miss Houghton, Mr. and Mrs. Wickham Havens, Mr. and Mrs.

Harold Havens, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Enges, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Macdonald, Miss Berenice Macdonald, Doctor and Mrs. Herbert Moffitt, Mr. and Mrs. John Francis Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Meek, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Taylor, Mrs. Henry Butters, Mr. and Mrs. E. Augustus Bray, Mr. and Mrs. Whitehead, Doctor and Mrs. J. Loran Pease, Mr. and Mrs. George Gross. Many of them are planning short trips away, mostly in automobiles, and many of them are having delightful days, entertaining friends informally, and being entertained in their turn.

HOSTESS IN THE COUNTRY.

Many of our prominent women are hostesses these mid-summer days in the various country homes all along the coast, and many other people are guests in these same homes. And to stay in other people's homes in summer time is really a test of friendship. It is surprising how very few people know how to be charming house guests, how few recognize the golden mean, the only thing which makes life endurable, and makes a hostess and her guest happy together.

There are times when one wants to be alone, and that is true both of the hostess and her guests. A guest can make so much trouble, she can be a great care to the maids, she can complicate the household machinery in many ways.

The ideal guest knows how to efface herself at times, and she learns how to slide into the household grooves so that her presence is hardly felt.

In this land, where there are so few maids, it is thoughtful of the guest to offer to attend to her room, and also to help her hostess with the latter's many duties.

By the exercise of a little tact, and the bearing in mind of the old and time-honored saying, "Do as you would be done by," you may make your visit such a delight that your hostess will be sincerely sorry to have you go, and really anxiously to have you come again.

NOVELTIES FROM BACK EAST.

The latest cry from the East marks one of the very genuine novelties of the day. It is to have a half a dozen trimmings for one hat. Long ago, when economy went hand in hand with variety, women often did this, just as they furnished up a black frock with bows of different colored ribbon, and wore it over different colored slips. The way they obtain different trimmings now is to make crown bands with octopus bows of varying colors of taffeta and satin ribbon. These they attach to the hat with strong pins that have colored glass heads to match.

Apple green is a smart choice for color, and old rose is a color that is coming very much into fashion, and all broadly striped ribbons are very much in demand.

WHEELERS HAVE RETURNED.

President and Mrs. Benjamin Ide Wheeler, and Master Wheeler returned recently from Camp Ahwahnee in the Yosemite valley.

They have been the guests for the Fourth of July holidays at the Hacienda, and among others in Mrs. Horner's house party have been Mrs. and Mrs. Alfred Kidder and Mrs. R. M. Appleton of Boston.

The Alfred Kidders have returned to Del Monte, and Mrs. Appleton is spending some days at the Fairmont, across the bay.

MANY OAKLANDERS IN THE SOUTH.

Though Southern California is a distinctly winter resort, many Oakland people spend the summer there, the warmer climate proving a welcome change from our own cold summer.

Mrs. George McNear Jr. is spending the summer months at Montecito, which is a beautiful suburb of Santa Barbara.

Early in the autumn, Mrs. McNear is going East, taking with her her daughter, Ernestine McNear, the latter to attend school in Farmington, Connecticut, where is located one of the best-known of the New England schools.

SANTA MONICA AND ITS COLONY.

Among the prominent Oakland people now in the south are Mrs. Melvin Chapman, Master Chapman and Mrs. Chapman's mother, Mrs. Childs. They have been for the past month at Santa Monica, and have greatly enjoyed their days at that delightful resort. The beach at Santa Monica is most picturesque, with its glorious breakers, and the Chapmans are spending a very charming summer there.

The Chapmans have closed their beautiful home on Vernon Heights for the summer. It is one of the most interesting and most artistic of the larger homes on the hill, and the Chapmans will make many friends most welcome there this winter.

MACDONALDS SOLD THEIR HOME.

The Roy Macdonalds have sold their home in the Lakeside district, and have gone to Piedmont, where they are planning to establish a permanent home. Mrs. Macdonald and her little son will, as usual, spend part of the summer at the Collier country home on Clear Lake.

HOMEcoming OF MRS. RICHARDSON.

All the many friends of the Gage family will welcome the news of the homecoming of Mrs. William Richardson, formerly Bessie Gage.

Texas is so far off, and the trip to Austin such a difficult one, that Mrs. Richardson cannot return to her old home as often as her relatives might wish.

Mrs. Richardson was always a much loved member of the family, and she was always most popular with her friends. She is a fine pianist, having spent three years in New York studying music.

No doubt there will be much social entertaining for this popular young matron when she visits her former Oakland home this summer.

PICTURES IN THE MEDDLER TODAY.

Miss Florence Ziegenfuss is a young university girl, who is soon to become the bride of Dr. Le Roy Briggs.

Miss Leila Ewing, the pretty young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Cal Ewing, has entertained her young friends recently.

Miss Miriam Pond, with her father and mother, has departed for a year's travel on the continent.

Mrs. Louis Allie, a bride of less than a year, is a talented musician and organist in one of the prominent churches.

TULLYS ARE IN THE MOUNTAINS.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Tully have taken up their permanent abode in the Santa Cruz mountains and are planning a very picturesque country place at Alma, the little settlement near Los Gatos. They have an ideal out door life, which they enjoy to the utmost, and they have many spirited horses on the quaint ranch, much to the joy of Mrs. Tully's heart, for she is a very fearless horsewoman, and she probably knows more about horses than any woman in the State.

The Tullys are planning to go East the latter part of July, but not for a long stay, as they are to spend the greater part of the summer and autumn at their place in Alma.

FOURTH OF JULY MISHAPS.

All sorts of catastrophes seem to have happened on the Fourth of July and Oakland, which tried to have a patriotic celebration, came in for its share of the disasters.

Among the latter, was the painful accident which happened to Mr. P. E. Bowles, who was in the McCloud river district during the Fourth of July holidays. On one of the difficult trails, his horse stumbled, and Mr. Bowles, stretching out his arm to save himself from being dashed against the stone cliff had his arm badly fractured in two places.

It was a hard trip home, with first a horseback trip of seventeen miles, over a mountain road, and then sitting up in the train all night.

But Mr. Bowles does not seem to mind his terrible experience, for a day or two afterwards saw him attending to business in the old forceful, cheerful way that has brought him success along so many lines.

CAME UP FROM DEL MONTE.

Mrs. A. N. Towne came up from Del Monte before the Fourth of July, and is now Mrs. Requa's guest at Highlands. Mrs. Towne and Mrs. Requa have been friends since the early railroad days, and Mrs. Towne has for years been a frequent and very welcome guest in the Piedmont home of the Requas.

Mr. and Mrs. Werten are at Tahoe, where they will spend the month of July.

THE FOURTH IN LONDON.

Everything pertaining to Ambassador and Mrs. Whitelaw Reid is of interest to Californians, since Mrs. Reid's father, D. O. Mills, made his home here for so many years, and in California was laid the foundation of his great fortune, a fortune that has done so much for his daughter and granddaughter.

D. O. Mills and Mrs. Reid are both popular with the smart sets about the bay, and it must be said of the Reids, that their hospitality to visiting Americans in London is unbounded.

Dorchester House, the residence of Ambassador Reid, was thrown open on the afternoon of the Fourth of July and several thousand people were received by the Ambassador and his wife. The invitation was a general one to American residents and visitors, but in addition to these, many of the political and social leaders of England, and scores of personal friends of the Reids called at their home.

During the afternoon a continuous stream of smartly dressed women and their escorts passed up the grand staircase, and the libraries, picture galleries and halls were crowded with probably the largest Fourth of July gathering of Americans ever seen outside of the United States.

Refreshments were served on the terrace, and in marque tents erected on the lawn.

MISS CROCKER A BRIDESMAID.

Miss Jennie Crocker, who was bridesmaid for her cousin, Miss Jean Reid, came across on the Adriatic with Charles Lanier and his little granddaughter. Miss Crocker is expected in her Burlington home this week.

Templeton Crocker is returning from college and will spend part of his vacation at "Uplands," the family home at Burlingame.

Mr. Crocker is traveling in a private car with some college friends, and in the autumn will resume his studies at Harvard.

LATHROPS ARE COMING HOME.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles G. Lathrop have been recently at the Gotham in New York, and they spent the Fourth of July holidays at Atlantic City. They are returning next week to their home in California.

Mr. and Mrs. George Hoadley and their daughter, Miss Gladys Hoadley, will leave New York late in July for Narragansett Pier, where they will attend the annual polo tournament in August.

Last summer Mr. and Mrs. George Hoadley had with them their niece, Miss Ruth Kales, one of our very pretty and very popular girls.

ENTERTAINING OF MISS VAN SICKLEN.

The coming to California of Sophie Van Sicklen of Burlington is the signal for much social entertaining. Her relatives, the Van Sicklens of Alameda, are prominent in many ways, and Miss Van Sicklen has often been their guest.

Mrs. Edward Y. Gibson was the hostess on Wednesday at a very delightful bridge afternoon, given in honor of Miss Van Sicklen. The guests were all good bridge players, who greatly enjoyed the afternoon in Mrs. Gibson's delightful home.

Among the guests were Miss Van Sicklen, Miss Anita Thomson, Mrs. Arthur Tishler, Miss Hawley and Miss Jean Hawley, Mrs. Bryner, Mrs. Spaulding, Mrs. Jordan, Miss Ruth Woodbury and Mrs. Edward de Lavega. Mr. and Mrs. de Lavega are Mrs. Gibson's house guests, having come from their country home at Orinda Park to spend some days in Alameda.

Mrs. Homer Craig of Alameda is planning an afternoon in honor of Miss Van Sicklen, and Mrs. Humphreys is also to entertain for her at her home on Central avenue.

ELINOR GLYN'S NEW BOOK.

The much heralded book for which Elinor Glyn came to this country to gather material is to be a novel, and judging by its title, "Elizabeth Visits America," a novel that reverts to the type of its author's earlier work.

In it the Elizabeth of former years and European experiences comes to this country and gives her impressions of the people and things that she finds here. As some of these people are Californians, and as some of the things she saw were in Rawhide, and she saw them under the chaperonage of Ray Baker, the book may probably prove of interest to the people on this coast.

In fact, the mid-summer is the time when one can settle comfortably down to the books of the year. The daily duties are not so insistent, and the leisure hour on the wide veranda, in the hammock or under the shady trees is rendered doubly fascinating by the charm of a bright book.

One of the books which is being extensively read in the smart sets of London and New York is entitled "Leaves From the Note Book of Lady Dorothy Nevill."

Lady Nevill knows everyone worth while in London's smart set, and her notes are not only interesting, but most amusing.

She describes many changes in England, due to the Americans in its smart set. She tells a bright little story of an American whose husband had bought a country place. The lady was told there were pleasant neighbors and she answered:

"We shan't see any of them, we shall get our friends down from London with the fish."

Her final summing up is of national interest:

"International marriages, with the consequent bringing into English life of American relatives, American money, and American ways," she thinks have done good rather than harm. And then she pays this tribute to the brides of Anglo-American marriages: "Bright and vivacious, it may with justice be said that it is by the American girl that we have been conquered, for she it is in reality who has brought about the excellent understanding which now exists with the great people beyond the Atlantic."

In the story are interesting glimpses of Stanford, and of the University of California, and the story where the professor marries the typical San Francisco girl is full of interest. Perhaps, after all, she is not "typical," for one reads of her that she is "handsome, capable, full of the love of life and safety, but deficient in home-making qualities. She is not adaptable and will not woo happiness, but must, perforce, take it by storm. And of course, to her a tragic fate is meted out."

Her new book, "Santa Lucia," just issued by the Harpers, has a San Jose environment.

for the month of August.

Mrs. E. R. Folger and her children are to be at Santa Barbara, and Santa Cruz will have its own contingent from Oakland for the July days.

Mrs. John Francis Smith and her children will leave on Monday for Santa Cruz, where they are planning to spend a delightful month, and Mr. Smith will join them for each weekend.

At Santa Cruz Mrs. Sharon is chaperoning a party of young people, who are all staying at the Sea Beach Hotel, and enjoying to the full the summer life of that fascinating beach.

Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Goodfellow have built a charming bungalow at Santa Cruz, and they have had as their guests this summer the Hugh Goodfellow and their little son. Mr. Goodfellow is very fond of the sea, and he has spent former seasons at Santa Cruz on his yacht.

At Carmel by the Sea Mr. and Mrs. George Sterling are making their many relatives welcome this summer. They have one of the most picturesque of homes there, and they know how to make people happy with them, in a most informal fashion.

Near them is the summer home of Mary Austin, whose California stories have brought her literary recognition in the East.

GONE ON TRIP EAST.

Among those leaving for the East last week were Mr. and Mrs. John D. Isaacs, Miss Lillian Isaacs, and Professor and Mrs. Putnam.

The Isaacs, after a stay of some weeks at the Athens are returning to their home in Chicago. Later they will spend some weeks of the season at summer resorts on the lakes.

Professor and Mrs. Putnam are returning to Cambridge, where Professor Putnam will spend the remainder of the summer, and will plan work for next year at the university. Professor Putnam is one of the most noted archaeologists in the country, and his work at Harvard University and at the University of California is attracting a great deal of attention, not only at home, but abroad.

VISITING WITH THE CHABOTS.

Mrs. Robert Knight and Reta Knight are guests at Villaremi, Mrs. Chabot's country home at St. Helena.

Mrs. Chabot loves St. Helena, and she goes there early in the summer, remaining till the late autumn days. Miss Clara Chabot also loves Villaremi, and she spends hours of each day riding along the mountain roads, for she is known as the best equestrienne for miles around picturesque St. Helena.

One hears that the wedding of Miss Clara Chabot and Leon Boqueron will take place in August at Villaremi, and that it will be a quiet wedding, the guests including for the most part, the relatives of both families.

STOLPS BACK FROM COUNTRY.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Stolp and Carmen Stolp returned this week from a visit to the Harlan home in San Ramon valley. It is a very picturesque home, and one of the most hospitable in that part of the county. Mrs. Harlan always plans a mid-summer reunion of the members of the family, who enjoy the return to the old home, which has always been very dear to them all.

TAFTS LEAVE FOR EUROPE.

Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Taft left last week for the East and Europe, for the annual trip which Mr. Taft usually takes abroad.

Mrs. Taft greatly enjoys life abroad, and as she is a good student she has learned to speak French exceedingly well.

Miss Taft and Miss Dorothy Taft are to spend the summer in the mountains, and are now at Applegate, one of the most picturesque resorts of the high Sierras.

WATSONS GO TO GLEN ELLEN.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Watson, with their little son and their sister, Lucretia Mauvais, left for Glen Ellen on Wednesday.

Mrs. Watson was a dinner hostess on Wednesday, entertaining at the Claremont Club, and Miss Lucretia Mauvais has also been a very attractive summer hostess, entertaining her friends at the Watson home on Van Buren avenue.

LONGS GOING BACK TO PIEDMONT.

Mrs. Oscar Long is to return to her Piedmont home this week, having almost entirely recovered from her late illness. This is glad news for her family, who are much attached to her. Mrs. Long has always chosen her friends for something very genuine in them. She is so sincere herself, so much worth while, that her friendships have true measurements.

At Fabiola her room was a bower of flowers — fragrant messages bringing the affectionate thoughts of true friends.

POPULARITY OF INVERNESS.

Inverness is attracting a great many people this year. It is delightfully cool there and there is good fishing and hunting near by. People dress and live in as good, hearty country fashion as they please. Among those who have cottages there and are enjoying the summer climate and the simple life are Mr. and Mrs. Fred Beaver and their four children. Mr. and Mrs. Beaver have a perfectly charming family, consisting of two girls and two sons. The eldest girl, Miss Isabel, is a beauty and will certainly electrify society when she comes out.

She is not yet seventeen and is preparing for Vassar College. The youngest member of the family is Peter, who is four, and as all the children are entertaining guests, the Beaver cottage at Inverness is one of the loveliest places imaginable. Mr. and Mrs. Beaver spent part of June in the Yosemite, having with them their daughter Isabel, Miss Dora Winn, Miss Clara Smith of Berkeley, Mr. Sydney V. Smith and Mr. Frank Madison. All of July they will spend at Inverness.

Among those who have spent the summers for several seasons at Inverness is Mrs. Emma Chatter Howard, formerly of Oakland. Mrs. Howard has a charming abode there, which was once destroyed by fire, but has been rebuilt. Mrs. Howard entertains a good deal, with a genuine hospitality.

AT BOLINAS BAY.

Bolinas Bay has been popular this summer, especially with San Rafaelites anxious to escape their warm summer climate, which most day dwellers enjoy. Among those who took cottages by the sea at Bolinas were Mrs. Walter Hobart of San Mateo, and Mrs. Alexander Lilley of San Rafael. These two charming young daughters are sisters, and with their mothers and babies, had a jolly time together in the old way. Mr. Hobart was cast and Mrs. Lilley's little granddaughter was visiting her Eastern relatives, but Mrs. Lilley had with her her baby boy, now two and a half years old.

At San Rafael. The Hotel Rafael is comfortably filled with guests, among them being Miss Carrie Gwin, Miss O'Connor, Miss Maud Howard and Miss Maud Younger. Mr. and Mrs. William Thomas are spending the summer there. Mrs. Henry Dodge and Mrs. Gale have a cottage in San Rafael.

Mr. and Mrs. Mark Gerstle are in Europe this summer, and their house is closed. They are just now at Baden Baden recuperating from the dissipation of London and Paris, where they have spent a month each, leaving San Francisco in the spring.

In London the Gerstles were much feted by Mr. and Mrs. Sydney Clann, Captain Clann being the military attaché at the American embassy in London. Mrs. Clann was formerly Mrs. Victor Clement of Denver and South Africa, a rich young widow, and a great friend of the John Haynes Hammond, in whose name her wedding announcements were issued. Captain Clann is well known in San Francisco, where he was stationed, and at the Bohemian Club, where he is one.

THE FAIRMONT FULL OF VISITORS.

Never has there been a summer with so many Western visitors in San Francisco. It began with the banker's excursion, which brought so many prominent financial men to the coast and has continued uninterruptedly since. The continuous hot weather throughout the East is sending many Eastern people westward. Among the recent arrivals at the Fairmont is Mrs. Willie Howard of Boston. Mrs. Howard used to make her home at San Mateo, where the Howards were the most prominent of the county families. Beautiful balls given by the Howards at their country place and at the Palace Hotel are still remembered for the perfection of their appointments and the costly lavishness of decorations and all accessories. Mrs. Howard is accompanied by her younger son, Kenneth, who lives with her in Boston. The rest of her children, with the exception of Mrs. Whittell, the eldest daughter, still live in San Mateo. Mrs. Whittell lives in Boston. Mrs. Howard will spend some time in San Francisco, and will then go to Paso Robles, returning to San Francisco later in the fall when she will remain for a little time. Mrs. Howard is always much entertained during her visits here, and always entertains beautifully in return.

LUNCHEON AT THE FAIRMONT.

Lunching at the Fairmont on Tuesday were Mrs. William Crocker and Miss Ethel Crocker, Miss Florence Crocker, Master Will and Master Charles Crocker, with their governesses. Later, in two automobiles, the entire party viewed the departure of the fleet from San Francisco bay. The party occupied the large table usually given up to the "Glue Club," which includes Colonel Kirkpatrick, Carter Pomeroy, Frank Michael, Mr. W. B. Bourn, Lansing Mizner and Dr. Macdonald. Most of the members of the Glue Club are away from town just at present. Mr. Pomeroy at Independence lake on a fishing trip, accompanied by his wife and daughters and Miss Louise Boyd of San Rafael; Lansing Mizner at his sister's, Mrs. Chase's home, in the Napa valley; Mr. Bourn in Grass Valley at his country place.

At the next table to Mrs. Crocker's Miss Lillie Lawlor was lunching with Mrs. Rudolph Spreckels, the latter in a dark blue tailored suit with an Irish lace bodice and a large black hat.

At another table were Miss Jane Blair and Mrs. Blair, who have just returned from several months spent in Europe.

Mrs. George Marye had as her guest Miss O'Connor of San Rafael. Mrs. Willie Howard was lunching with Miss Frances Howard and Kenneth Howard.

Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Schwerin had a number of guests and later went out on the Pacific Mail tug Arab to see the last of the fleet.

BRIDGE HOSTESSES OF THE WEEK.

There is not much bridge at this season, excepting of the most informal variety. Mrs. Frank Deering and Mrs. Josselyn had a few tables this week. Mrs. Josselyn is on the eve of her annual pilgrimage to Europe, and Mrs. Deering entertained a table or two in honor of some navel women who leave for the Orient on Saturday. Afterward Joe Redding and some of the interesting men one always meets at the Deerings, dropped in for tea.

$2000 IS SAVED BY NEW CONTRACT.
Board Readvertises for Sprinkling Cart Bids and Lower Estimates Are Offered.

In the award of contract by the Board of Public Works at a special meeting yesterday afternoon to the Studebaker Wagon Company for twenty new sprinkling carts, at an aggregate cost of $2520, there has been saved to the city nearly $2000 on a readvertisement for bids.

Of the carts required to be furnished under the contract for delivery within the next sixty days, there are six of 800 gallon steel tank capacity at a cost of $400 apiece, three of 1000 gallon capacity, steel tank, at $230 each; and one of 1000 gallon capacity, wooden tank, at $215. There were two other bids, the A. L. Young Machinery Company and the Henshaw-Bullock Company, but the Studebaker Wagon Company was the lowest bidder in all three classes of carts.

Some time ago the board advertised for bids and received offers from five different firms, among them the present successful bidder. After an investigation by the board of the carts offered, all bids were rejected for the reason that the price was too high for the character of the carts which were offered to be delivered. With the readvertisement a higher grade cart was demanded and the bids were generally lower than before.

With the Studebaker Company the bids were from $50 to $75 lower on each class of cart, notwithstanding the better grade demanded.

The A. L. Young Machinery Company protested, though not vigorously, against the award to the Studebaker Wagon Company, claiming that the other company had had the advantage of the public knowledge of the price at which the Young Company had bid under the original advertisement. It was admitted by the members of the board that perhaps they had a grievance, but seeing an opportunity to save the city in the neighborhood of $2000 it was their duty to award the contract as they did.

WILL TAKE BONDS OF $20,000,000
New York Syndicate Concludes Arrangement With the City of Los Angeles.

LOS ANGELES, July 11.—After negotiations lasting a week, a New York syndicate offers for the remaining $20,000,000 worth of bonds of the Owens river water project, issued by the city of Los Angeles, was today accepted by the City Council, and the last financial obstacle to the completion of the city's $23,000,000 plan for a new water supply was surmounted.

The syndicate is composed of Kountze Brothers and A. E. Lench & Co., two Wall street bond houses.

The terms of the contract were arranged on the basis of a compromise, the syndicate finally paying more than was at first offered. The purchasers agreed to take $2,040,000 of an issue bearing interest at 4 1/2 per cent at 100-1/2. Full payment for this issue is to be made by October 15. Another issue of similar amount and upon similar terms is to be taken in February next and payment completed by June.

The syndicate also takes options on the balance of the bonds, which, in effect, it agrees to take at the rate of $218,000 every sixty days, but not more than $2,000,000 in any one year, except the last, when it will take the $2,000,000 remaining.

The first two years the premium is to be one-fourth of 1 per cent, the third year one-half of 1 per cent and the last year 1 per cent.

WANT MINE CASE TO BE DISMISSED
Montana Stockholders Allege Fraudulent Methods on Part of Consolidated Company.

MONTANA, Mont., July 11.—A complaint in intervention was filed in the district court here yesterday, asking for the dismissal of the case of the Consolidated Gold Mining Company against the Kimberley-Montana Gold Mining Company.

The petition alleges that Henry M. Ryan and others so conducted the business of the Kimberley-Montana company as to make it apparently insolvent for the purpose of fraudulently foreclosing the interests of a large number of the other stockholders, that Ryan and others incorporated the Consolidated Company, May 25, 1906, under the laws of the Territory of Arizona, with a capital stock of $100,000 in order to obtain possession of the property of the Kimberley-Montana company, and then agreed to exchange the stock of this company for that of the Consolidated Gold Mining Company; that the Kimberley company sold about 540,000 shares of its stock at prices from 40 to 75 cents a share and that the Consolidated Company through Ryan and associates agreed to loan the Kimberley company money to pay off its obligations.

The Kimberley company, it is alleged, at this pretended meeting in Chicago, signified a willingness to be adjudged a bankrupt and notified the Consolidated company, a pretended creditor, to this effect, the purpose being to defeat the rights of the minority stockholders of the Kimberley company.

CAMERAPHONE PROVES TO BE A SUCCESS

A private demonstration of the cameraphone was given at the new theater on Broadway and Twelfth street last night in the presence of two hundred people.

The cameraphone moving pictures talk, sing and dance.

The exhibition last night was a complete success. Those who saw the pictures were wonderfully pleased. The events of the people on the screen were perfect and the "talking" and "singing" appeared to be right in time with the motion of the lips.

Over thirty-five years ago in 1872 there was a great deal of diarrhea, dysentery and cholera infantum. It was at this time that Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy was first brought into use. It proved more successful than any other remedy of treatment, and for thirty-five years maintained that record. From a small beginning its sale and use has extended to every part of the world, and to many foreign countries. Nine druggists out of ten will recommend it when their opinion is asked, although they have other medicines that pay them a greater profit. It can always be depended upon to cure the most severe and dangerous cases. For sale by Osgood Bros., 14th and Bay, and 12th and Washington streets.
